Ramos Calls For Brazilian State Of Siege

President Acts As Cafe Is Rebuffed; Crisis Seen At End

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, Nov. 22 (AP)—Provisional President Nereu Ramos tonight asked Congress to declare a state of siege—modified martial law—throughout Brazil.

In a message delivered to the lawmakers as the nation apparently weathered its second grave political crisis in two days, Ramos asked that the state of siege be set for a 30-day period—the maximum allowed by the constitution.

The message was read first to the Chamber of Deputies and then sent to the Senate. Although such declarations are limited to 30 days each, Congress can extend state of siege laws indefinitely.

The provisional president's request came just a day after Joao Filho Cafe precipitated the latest crisis by attempting to end his sick leave and return to the presidency.

Military Action Taken

His demands for reinstatement in a message to Congress last night were met by prompt military action. The army under Gen. Henrique Lott, war minister in the provisional cabinet which was installed in a coup last week, seized control of the entire capital.

Both houses of Congress then passed a formal resolution rejecting Cafe's claim that he could resume presidential functions. The resolution said Cafe's leave of absence could be ended only by congressional decision.

In a joint statement tonight, the army, navy and air force ministers pledged their backing to Ramos and said the "armed forces maintain their firm decision to assure the public tranquillity and stability of the regime."

Ramos Took Over Nov. 11

This assured at least momentary calm for provisional President Nereu Ramos, who rose from presidency of the Senate when a bloodless coup Nov. 11 ousted Cafe's first successor, Carlos Coimbra da Luz.

However, Cafe's friends were not prepared to give up the fight. His attorneys filed two applications for special writs in the Supreme Court. The first was a writ of habeas corpus to free him from virtual arrest at his apartment in the Copacabana section which is surrounded by army troops. The second was a special writ in which the Supreme Court was asked to back his claim to the presidency.

Bomb Is Found In Girls' Dormitory

AMES, Iowa, Nov. 22 (AP)—Discovery of a powerful dynamite bomb in a girls' dormitory at Iowa State College was disclosed today by Ames police.

The dormitory, Elm Hall, houses 136 girls.

Police Chief Orville Erickson said a janitor discovered the device yesterday morning in a first floor hallway of the rear wing of the dorm.

Officers said the bomb was an ingenious and complicated contraption. It consisted of five sticks of dynamite, a horn, a stripped down alarm clock, a percussion cap and a mouse trap.

Art Larsen, the janitor, said he investigated when he heard the horn sound. He found the explosive device in a large case. Attached to it was a note which said, "This bomb will go off in 20 minutes."

Larsen said he pulled the wires, which sparked, and then notified other campus authorities.

Details Clouded By Censorship

[By The Associated Press]

The radio at Tiflis in Soviet Georgia announced yesterday, apparently without Moscow's permission, that six former associates of the late Stalinist police boss Lavrenty Beria have been executed for treason.

Western correspondents in Moscow have been trying to send out the story for the last three weeks but were balked by censorship. Not until the Tiflis radio broke the news in broadcasts heard in foreign countries did the Moscow censorship relax, and then only slightly.

"Delicate" Matter

A correspondent in Moscow confirmed early today that no information whatever was available there from official sources on the executions. He reported that out of 350 words he submitted to the censor, only 59 were passed for transmission.

"The Tiflis matter presently is extremely delicate and difficult and heavily censored," the Moscow correspondent reported.

The correspondent did not disclose how all the information did become available in Moscow. His information was that five were executed, not six as reported by Tiflis radio heard in London. Moscow radio has not broadcast the execution story.

Beria Shot In 1953

The executions in Stalin's and Beria's old home country are believed to have taken place several weeks ago. Beria was shot in 1953 in the first purge after the death of Stalin.

The monitors in London reported the first Tiflis broadcast listed five as executed.

A later broadcast, with reception somewhat clearer than the first, listed the following six as having been executed:

Rukhadze, former Georgian minister of security and former chief of the Prosecution Department of the Ministry of Internal Affairs.

Rokava, former commissar of Internal Security.

Cost Of Living Stable, Worker Pay Increases

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22 (AP)—New government figures today showed factory worker take-home pay rose to a new high in October while over-all living costs registered no change from a month earlier.

The Labor Department's Statistics Bureau said this meant the purchasing power of the average American factory worker's wages is greater than ever before.

Wage Average Rises

Average take-home pay, or earnings less tax deductions, was calculated at $72.18 weekly for the factory worker with three dependents and $64.85 for the single worker. Both figures were up more than $5 from a year ago, a record October-to-October increase.

The pay rise was attributed to longer working hours and an overall 5 per cent increase in wage rates.

The bureau's living cost index for October was the same as in September at 114.9 per cent of the 1947-49 average. In other words, purchases costing $1 in that period now cost nearly 15 cents more.

Food Prices Decline

October living costs were a fraction higher than a year ago but a fraction lower than the record level of October 1953, when the index was 115.4 of the 1947-48 average.

Food prices, especially meat, poultry and fresh fruits and vegetables, declined substantially in October. But transportation and housing costs increased, as did medical and personal care items.

Romans, Police Clash

ROME, Nov. 22 (AP)—Several hundred Romans in a leftist demonstration against living costs clashed tonight with riot police. About 12 demonstrators were bruised and two police were wounded by flying stones. Fifty persons were arrested.

Soviets Willing To Compete For India Friendship

BHAKRA DAM, India, Nov. 22 (AP)—Nikita Khrushchev today invited other nations to compete with the Soviet Union if they can for the friendship of India.

"I have seen foreign press reports which say that we have come here with a motive—for the purpose of exploiting things here," the Soviet Communist chief told a luncheon party after inspecting India's biggest irrigation and power development in the second stop of a tour of the country.

"We have come here only for friendship," the stocky party boss said. "I would say to these people (abroad) that we are quite willing to compete with them for the friendship of India."

Khrushchev spoke twice at the luncheon while Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin spoke once. Khrushchev's speeches were so long that thousands of persons waiting to see them inspect a generating plant were disappointed. The afternoon tour was canceled because the luncheon continued more than an hour beyond schedule.

Hatoyama Reelected Japanese Premier

TOKYO, Wednesday, Nov. 23 (AP)—Japan's newest and most powerful postwar government, formed yesterday with the reelection of Prime Minister Ichiro Hatoyama, will keep trying for normal relations with Soviet Russia while continuing friendship with the United States.

Hatoyama indicated after his overwhelming return to office in a parliamentary election that he also will try to eliminate the no-war and disarmament clauses from Japan's postwar constitution.

The conservative Prime Minister was reelected with the backing of the newly merged Liberal and Democratic parties, both conservative.

That alignment, one of the strongest in Japanese political history, gives Hatoyama an absolute majority in the dominant lower house, but leaves him still short of the two-thirds majority needed to revise the constitution.

Atomic Refineries Could Reduce Price Of Gasoline

LINDEN, N. J., Nov. 22 (AP)—The Esso Research and Engineering Co. announced today that gasoline had been refined by the use of atomic energy in what it called the first such development.

Eger V. Murphree, company president, told newsmen that crude oil had been exposed to gamma radiation from a 13-inch cobalt pipe and the refining process had worked.

He emphasized it was an experimental, small-scale development but said that, if further tests in larger pilot plants are successful, the refining costs might be cut tremendously.

This could mean lower prices on petroleum products.

The cobalt pipe, made radioactive in an atomic pile, is housed in a radiation laboratory at the Esso research center here. Oil scientists erected a pilot plant which is a miniature model of a conventional oil refining process.

In effect, the gamma radiation replaced the 1,000-degree Fahrenheit temperatures needed to refine the oil. Heat, pressures and catalysts are normally used in making petroleum products.

Most Fathers To Get Draft Deferments

Anticipated Change Apparently Fits Into "Youth Movement"

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22 (AP)—Most—if not all—fathers registered in the draft may look forward to deferments "fairly soon," a Selective Service spokesman disclosed today.

He said these deferments would be one result of a change in draft regulations now being completed. Apparently it fits into a "youth movement" announced by the Selective Service system two months ago.

The spokesman said the anticipated change would provide for calling up eligible registrants in this order:

1. Delinquents defined as those who for some reason failed to register or to comply with local board instructions to report for physical examinations.
2. Volunteers.
3. Non-volunteers between 18½ and 26.
4. Men 26 and younger with children.
5. Men over 26.

Fatherhood was eliminated as grounds for deferment in July, 1953. At that time the number of men available for Selective Service had dropped below one million and some states were calling men as young as 19. But the manpower pool had climbed back to 1,764,000 by last July.

In September, Selective Service reported the average age of draftees had risen to almost 23. This makes them about 25 when they finish their two years of service and move into the ready reserve. One Selective Service official said at that time that 25 is only one year under the age at which most men reach their peak of military efficiency.

"We want younger men than the 25 year olds going into the ready reserve," he continued. "We want men who can serve in the ready reserve several years before they reach 26."

Six Die In Mishap Aboard Carrier

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22 (AP)—The Navy reported today the death of six men and serious injury to another in an aircraft accident aboard the carrier Ticonderoga in the Mediterranean last night.

The accident occurred when a jet fighter piloted by Ens. Otis C. Lightner of Altus, Okla., attempted a landing during night exercises. The tail hook of his plane failed to catch the arresting wire, jumped over the barricade and skidded down the deck, striking eight people.

Lightner was picked out of the water 20 minutes later by a boat from the destroyer Goodrich. He suffered only scratches and bruises and was not considered injured seriously.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22 (AP)—The 1956 New York Social Register lists the name of Ann Woodward, who shot her husband to death at their Long Island estate.

Advance copies of society's blue-book take official notice of the tragedy with a line reading: "William Woodward Jr., died Oyster Bay Oct. 30."

52 Persons Removed Safely From Texas Tower To Tug

By DON GUY

ABOARD TUG EL SOL, AT SEA (via Radiophone), Nov. 22 (AP)—We are heading for the mainland and home tonight after a hair-raising departure from the Texas tower, the Air Force-Navy radar island 100 miles east of Cape Cod, Mass.

But it took the unparalleled seamanship of Capt. Patrick Carlough, an Aleut Indian from Seattle, Wash., and the expert crane handling of a big smiling New York Irishman, Tom Barrett, to make the safe transfer of 52 persons from the tower to the heaving deck of this tug.

We were marooned aboard the tower for five days while hurricane force winds and treacherous seas slammed the structure.

The El Sol is big for a tug. It is a 174-foot ocean going vessel, but it bobbed and weaved in 25-foot waves driven by a 40 m.p.h. wind as we boarded it.

In groups of four to seven, we climbed into the 10-foot basket which Barrett swung over the side of the tower and lowered the 100 feet or so to the deck of the tug.

He swung us over the tug until he decided it was the right moment, and then dropped the basket to the deck.

Several basketloads tipped over, but all the passengers scrambled out unhurt.

The manmade island—first of a chain of watchtowers along the Atlantic Coast—stands on three sturdy steel and concrete "legs" anchored deep in the bottom at the edge of Georges fishing grounds. It rises some 100 feet above the surface.

Waves reaching 61 feet burst against it during the height of the storm. The tower resembles oil derrick platforms used in the Gulf of Mexico.

The El Sol picked up a hawser at 2 p.m. today and rode seas which rolled her rails under during the transfer.

Capt. Carlough said he expects to dock in Boston at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow.

Sen. Case Charges Demos Play Politics With Foreign Policy

Blasts Called "Destructive" Criticism

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22 (AP)—Sen. Clifford P. Case (R-NJ) accused Democratic presidential aspirants today of playing politics with foreign policy by "destructive" criticism of President Eisenhower's conduct of international affairs.

Chairman Bridges (R-NH) of the Senate Republican Policy Committee took a similar course. He said that instead of representing a failure, the Geneva foreign ministers conference made a great gain in disclosing that the Russians still are engaged in a "phony peace offensive."

The statements of the two Republican senators obviously were in reply to weekend blasts by Democrats Adlai Stevenson, Gov. Averell Harriman of New York and Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee.

Stevenson's Statement

Stevenson, the 1952 Democratic presidential nominee who is running for the nomination again, said in Chicago Saturday night that the "mists of illusion" have faded from Geneva to disclose that the cold war still is in a "deep freeze."

Harriman, who has indicated he is available for the party nomination, yesterday called the administration's foreign policy actions in 1955 "a classic in the history of bungling." Kefauver, who may announce next month his candidacy for the party nomination, pinned a "failure" label on those policies.

Case said all of this added up to the fact that "we are in the 1956 presidential campaign."

"Negative Criticism"

"Events of the past few days leave no doubt about that," he said. "And these events underscore the harm that can be done our country and to the peace of the world if partisanship gets the better of responsibility in the discussion of foreign policy during the 12 long months that lie ahead."

Case, who has assumed informal leadership of all-out Eisenhower supporters in the Senate, said that leading candidates for the Democratic nomination were "campaigning openly on a platform whose main thrust appears aimed at President Eisenhower's conduct of our foreign policy."

He complained that the Democrats were offering "negative criticism alone" without suggesting constructive alternatives.

Japan Imposes Curbs On Cotton Exports To U.S.

TOKYO, Wednesday, Nov. 23 (AP)—The government said yesterday it will cease, temporarily, approving contracts for export of cotton goods to the United States.

The move was designed to quiet complaints that Japan is flooding the U. S. market with cheap cotton goods.

The announcement met with disbelief in the United States. Trade sources there expressed doubt it would accomplish that purpose.

The newspaper Nihon Keizai (Japan Economics) said the order will go into effect tomorrow, until further notice.

The paper said the Ministry of International Trade and Industry is speeding formulation of basic measures to control cotton goods exports to the United States.

Control Measures Planned

It said the ban on export contracts would continue until control measures are worked out.

The government previously suspended export license applications on four specific cotten items considered the most competitive in the United States—gray and bleached cloth, velveteen and corduroy.

Officially the U. S. State Department declined comment, but one official told a reporter he doubted the Japanese were restricting all cotton goods exports to America.

Sen. Smith Skeptical

Sen. Margaret Chase Smith (R-Maine), who demanded on Monday that the State Department curb Japanese exports to the United States by tariffs or quotas, said the announcement "should be taken with considerable skepticism."

Sol Barkin, research director for the CIO Textile Workers Union of America, said in Washington he felt certain Japan was imposing no flat embargo on cotton textile exports but might be exercising "voluntary restrictions" to keep exports at current levels.

Matsu Air Alert

TAIPEI, Formosa, Wednesday, Nov. 23 (AP)—Air raid sirens sounded yesterday on the Matsu Islands at the approach of unidentified airplanes, the Nationalist Defense Ministry reported today.

The planes turned back 35 miles from the islands, the Ministry said. The alert lasted half an hour.

Britain And Four Mideast Nations Set Up Alliance

BAGHDAD, Iraq, Nov. 22 (AP)—Britain and four strategic nations along Russia's southern border tonight completed formation of a permanent defense organization against Russian aggression.

The organization linking Iraq, Iran, Pakistan and Turkey with Britain will begin functioning immediately. It will set up machinery for economic and political as well as military cooperation.

A communique outlining the organization's structure and aims was issued after the two-day meeting between the prime ministers of the four Asiatic nations and British Foreign Secretary Harold Macmillan.

U. S. Observes Present

U. S. observers were present at meetings of heads of delegations and military leaders and will maintain a permanent liaison, politically and militarily.

The communique said that during the meetings "the five governments had reaffirmed their intention to work in full partnership and with a united purpose for peace and security in the Middle East, to defend their territories against aggression or subversion and promote the welfare and prosperity of the peoples in that region."

Council Established

Delegates leaving the meeting said the four prime ministers and Macmillan had established a "Council of the Baghdad Pact" as parent body of a permanent organization. It will consist of the foreign ministers of the five member nations and will meet in Tehran in April.

Delegates said the pact organization would maintain headquarters in Baghdad and that a permanent council, probably consisting of the ambassadors to Iraq, would be established.

Stand Bared After Meeting With Cabinet

Hagerty Reiterates "Complete Support" Of Agriculture Chief

GETTYSBURG, Pa., Nov. 22 (AP)—The White House said today that President Eisenhower at no time has "entertained any suggestion whatsoever of the secretary of agriculture being replaced."

This declaration, from presidential Secretary James C. Hagerty, also reiterated that Eisenhower has "completely supported" Secretary Benson.

The secretary has come under fire of critics who hold him to blame, in varying degree, for a slump in farm prices.

In Washington, Benson said progress is being made in developing proposals for strengthening the administration's farm program. He said that when a final decision is made, the recommendations may include the idea of a "soil bank" under which government payments would be made to farmers for taking surplus crop land out of production and building fertility in it for the future.

Eisenhower's stand on Benson was reported by Hagerty after a busy day in which the President reviewed the world situation with his Cabinet and told its members of his gratitude for their carrying on during his illness.

Session Held At Retreat

The Cabinet session, attended by Benson, was held at a presidential retreat from which Eisenhower returned around noon to spend the Thanksgiving holidays with his grandchildren.

The hour-and-55-minute session on a mountain top near Thurmont, Md., did not include any discussion of agricultural problems, Hagerty said.

Meeting with reporters at 4:15 p.m. Hagerty told them he had talked with the President about a published report that the President's brother Milton, president of Penn State University, had blocked demands for Benson's resignation.

"Such a thing never happened," Hagerty said. He went on to say the President never has "at any time entertained any suggestion whatsoever of the secretary of agriculture being replaced."

Milton Eisenhower, he said, "has never talked to the President about the activities of or the retention of or the employment of anyone in the government."

Teetor Resigns

Hagerty also announced:

1. The acceptance of the resignation of Lothair Teetor as assistant secretary of commerce and the naming of Frederick Henry Mueller of East Grand Rapids, Mich., as his successor.

Teetor has been a top official of the Perfect Circle Corp., which has been involved in a stormy labor dispute. As to whether the resignation had anything to do with this dispute, Hagerty said "not that I know of."

2. Eisenhower's signing of an executive order transferring to Secretary of Defense Wilson further administration of the soldiers' absentee voting law.

3. Eisenhower's recess appointment of Chancellor Clifford Cook Furnas of the University of Buffalo to be assistant secretary of defense for research and development, succeeding Donald A. Quarles, now secretary of the Air Force.

Mrs. Woodward To Face Grand Jury Quiz Friday

MINEOLA, N.Y., Nov. 22 (AP)—Ann Woodward gets her chance Friday to tell a grand jury how she shot to death her millionaire sportsman husband. She has called the slaying a tragic accident.

The 39-year-old former showgirl will face the grand jury without a lawyer and will be exposed to cross-examination on anything she says. Her statements also may be used against her later if the jury indicts her.

Authorities, after their first extensive questioning of Mrs. Woodward last night, repeated their belief she is innocent of any crime in the death of William Woodward Jr., 35, owner of the racehorse Nashua.

Mrs. Woodward has said she shot into the dark hallway of their Oyster Bay, N.Y., home Oct. 30 at a noise she thought was caused by a prowler. Woodward, nude and unarmed in the doorway of his bedroom across the hallway, caught the shotgun charge in the head.

Dist. Atty. Frank Gulotta said today he has about 25 or 30 witnesses on tap, and expects the grand jury hearings to last at least one full day.

The grand jury can indict Mrs. Woodward for murder or anything on down if it thinks she deliberately or negligently shot her husband. Or, if it believes her story, it can dismiss the shooting as an unfortunate accident and hold the widow blameless.

"We want younger men than the 25 year olds going into the ready reserve," he continued. "We want men who can serve in the ready reserve several years before they reach 26."

Six Die In Mishap Aboard Carrier

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22 (AP)—The Navy reported today the death of six men and serious injury to another in an aircraft accident aboard the carrier Ticonderoga in the Mediterranean last night.

The accident occurred when a jet fighter piloted by Ens. Otis C. Lightner of Altus, Okla., attempted a landing during night exercises. The tail hook of his plane failed to catch the arresting wire, jumped over the barricade and skidded down the deck, striking eight people.

Lightner was picked out of the water 20 minutes later by a boat from the destroyer Goodrich. He suffered only scratches and bruises and was not considered injured seriously.

Sen. Case Charges Demos Play Politics With Foreign Policy

Blasts Called "Destructive" Criticism

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22 (AP)—Sen. Clifford P. Case (R-NJ) accused Democratic presidential aspirants today of playing politics with foreign policy by "destructive" criticism of President Eisenhower's conduct of international affairs.

Chairman Bridges (R-NH) of the Senate Republican Policy Committee took a similar course. He said that instead of representing a failure, the Geneva foreign ministers conference made a great gain in disclosing that the Russians still are engaged in a "phony peace offensive."

The statements of the two Republican senators obviously were in reply to weekend blasts by Democrats Adlai Stevenson, Gov. Averell Harriman of New York and Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee.

Stevenson's Statement

Stevenson, the 1952 Democratic presidential nominee who is running for the nomination again, said in Chicago Saturday night that the "mists of illusion" have faded from Geneva to disclose that the cold war still is in a "deep freeze."

Harriman, who has indicated he is available for the party nomination, yesterday called the administration's foreign policy actions in 1955 "a classic in the history of bungling." Kefauver, who may announce next month his candidacy for the party nomination, pinned a "failure" label on those policies.

Case said all of this added up to the fact that "we are in the 1956 presidential campaign."

"Negative Criticism"

"Events of the past few days leave no doubt about that," he said. "And these events underscore the harm that can be done our country and to the peace of the world if partisanship gets the better of responsibility in the discussion of foreign policy during the 12 long months that lie ahead."

Case, who has assumed informal leadership of all-out Eisenhower supporters in the Senate, said that leading candidates for the Democratic nomination were "campaigning openly on a platform whose main thrust appears aimed at President Eisenhower's conduct of our foreign policy."

He complained that the Democrats were offering "negative criticism alone" without suggesting constructive alternatives.

Britain And Four Mideast Nations Set Up Alliance

BAGHDAD, Iraq, Nov. 22 (AP)—Britain and four strategic nations along Russia's southern border tonight completed formation of a permanent defense organization against Russian aggression.

The organization linking Iraq, Iran, Pakistan and Turkey with Britain will begin functioning immediately. It will set up machinery for economic and political as well as military cooperation.

A communique outlining the organization's structure and aims was issued after the two-day meeting between the prime ministers of the four Asiatic nations and British Foreign Secretary Harold Macmillan.

U. S. Observes Present

U. S. observers were present at meetings of heads of delegations and military leaders and will maintain a permanent liaison, politically and militarily.

The communique said that during the meetings "the five governments had reaffirmed their intention to work in full partnership and with a united purpose for peace and security in the Middle East, to defend their territories against aggression or subversion and promote the welfare and prosperity of the peoples in that region."

Council Established

Delegates leaving the meeting said the four prime ministers and Macmillan had established a "Council of the Baghdad Pact" as parent body of a permanent organization. It will consist of the foreign ministers of the five member nations and will meet in Tehran in April.

Delegates said the pact organization would maintain headquarters in Baghdad and that a permanent council, probably consisting of the ambassadors to Iraq, would be established.

Border Clash Reported

GAZA, Egyptian-Held Palestine, Nov. 22 (AP)—An Egyptian military spokesman said today Israeli forces crossed the border and fired on Egyptian forces last night near Khan Yunes, south of Gaza. No casualties were reported on the Egyptian side.

Japan Imposes Curbs On Cotton Exports To U.S.

TOKYO, Wednesday, Nov. 23 (AP)—The government said yesterday it will cease, temporarily, approving contracts for export of cotton goods to the United States.

The move was designed to quiet complaints that Japan is flooding the U. S. market with cheap cotton goods.

The announcement met with disbelief in the United States. Trade sources there expressed doubt it would accomplish that purpose.

The newspaper Nihon Keizai (Japan Economics) said the order will go into effect tomorrow, until further notice.

The paper said the Ministry of International Trade and Industry is speeding formulation of basic measures to control cotton goods exports to the United States.

Control Measures Planned

It said the ban on export contracts would continue until control measures are worked out.

The government previously suspended export license applications on four specific cotten items considered the most competitive in the United States—gray and bleached cloth, velveteen and corduroy.

Officially the U. S. State Department declined comment, but one official told a reporter he doubted the Japanese were restricting all cotton goods exports to America.

Sen. Smith Skeptical

Sen. Margaret Chase Smith (R-Maine), who demanded on Monday that the State Department curb Japanese exports to the United States by tariffs or quotas, said the announcement "should be taken with considerable skepticism."

Sol Barkin, research director for the CIO Textile Workers Union of America, said in Washington he felt certain Japan was imposing no flat embargo on cotton textile exports but might be exercising "voluntary restrictions" to keep exports at current levels.

Matsu Air Alert

TAIPEI, Formosa, Wednesday, Nov. 23 (AP)—Air raid sirens sounded yesterday on the Matsu Islands at the approach of unidentified airplanes, the Nationalist Defense Ministry reported today.

The planes turned back 35 miles from the islands, the Ministry said. The alert lasted half an hour.

Stand Bared After Meeting With Cabinet

Hagerty Reiterates "Complete Support" Of Agriculture Chief

GETTYSBURG, Pa., Nov. 22 (AP)—The White House said today that President Eisenhower at no time has "entertained any suggestion whatsoever of the secretary of agriculture being replaced."

This declaration, from presidential Secretary James C. Hagerty, also reiterated that Eisenhower has "completely supported" Secretary Benson.

The secretary has come under fire of critics who hold him to blame, in varying degree, for a slump in farm prices.

In Washington, Benson said progress is being made in developing proposals for strengthening the administration's farm program. He said that when a final decision is made, the recommendations may include the idea of a "soil bank" under which government payments would be made to farmers for taking surplus crop land out of production and building fertility in it for the future.

Eisenhower's stand on Benson was reported by Hagerty after a busy day in which the President reviewed the world situation with his Cabinet and told its members of his gratitude for their carrying on during his illness.

Session Held At Retreat

The Cabinet session, attended by Benson, was held at a presidential retreat from which Eisenhower returned around noon to spend the Thanksgiving holidays with his grandchildren.

The hour-and-55-minute session on a mountain top near Thurmont, Md., did not include any discussion of agricultural problems, Hagerty said.

Meeting with reporters at 4:15 p.m. Hagerty told them he had talked with the President about a published report that the President's brother Milton, president of Penn State University, had blocked demands for Benson's resignation.

"Such a thing never happened," Hagerty said. He went on to say the President never has "at any time entertained any suggestion whatsoever of the secretary of agriculture being replaced."

Milton Eisenhower, he said, "has never talked to the President about the activities of or the retention of or the employment of anyone in the government."

Teetor Resigns

Hagerty also announced:

1. The acceptance of the resignation of Lothair Teetor as assistant secretary of commerce and the naming of Frederick Henry Mueller of East Grand Rapids, Mich., as his successor.

Teetor has been a top official of the Perfect Circle Corp., which has been involved in a stormy labor dispute. As to whether the resignation had anything to do with this dispute, Hagerty said "not that I know of."

2. Eisenhower's signing of an executive order transferring to Secretary of Defense Wilson further administration of the soldiers' absentee voting law.

3. Eisenhower's recess appointment of Chancellor Clifford Cook Furnas of the University of Buffalo to be assistant secretary of defense for research and development, succeeding Donald A. Quarles, now secretary of the Air Force.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Nov. 22 (AP)—The United Nations Political Committee approved unanimously today a U. S. resolution calling for continued efforts to seek unification of Korea in accord with U.N. principles.

52 Persons Removed Safely From Texas Tower To Tug

By DON GUY

ABOARD TUG EL SOL, AT SEA (via Radiophone), Nov. 22 (AP)—We are heading for the mainland and home tonight after a hair-raising departure from the Texas tower, the Air Force-Navy radar island 100 miles east of Cape Cod, Mass.

But it took the unparalleled seamanship of Capt. Patrick Carlough, an Aleut Indian from Seattle, Wash., and the expert crane handling of a big smiling New York Irishman, Tom Barrett, to make the safe transfer of 52 persons from the tower to the heaving deck of this tug.

We were marooned aboard the tower for five days while hurricane force winds and treacherous seas slammed the structure.

The El Sol is big for a tug. It is a 174-foot ocean going vessel, but it bobbed and weaved in 25-foot waves driven by a 40 m.p.h. wind as we boarded it.

In groups of four to seven, we climbed into the 10-foot basket which Barrett swung over the side of the tower and lowered the 100 feet or so to the deck of the tug.

He swung us over the tug until he decided it was the right moment, and then dropped the basket to the deck

Several basketloads tipped over, but all the passengers scrambled out unhurt.

Waves reaching 61 feet burst against it during the height of the storm. The tower resembles oil derrick platforms used in the Gulf of Mexico.

The El Sol picked up a hawser at 2 p.m. today and rode seas which rolled her rails under during the transfer.

Capt. Carlough said he expects to dock in Boston at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow.

Atomic Refineries Could Reduce Price Of Gasoline

LINDEN, N. J., Nov. 22 (AP)—The Esso Research and Engineering Co. announced today that gasoline had been refined by the use of atomic energy in what it called the first such development.

Eger V. Murphree, company president, told newsmen that crude oil had been exposed to gamma radiation from a 13-inch cobalt pipe and the refining process had worked.

He emphasized it was an experimental, small-scale development but said that, if further tests in larger pilot plants are successful, the refining costs might be cut tremendously.

This could mean lower prices on petroleum products.

The cobalt pipe, made radioactive in an atomic pile, is housed in a radiation laboratory at the Esso research center here. Oil scientists erected a pilot plant which is a miniature model of a conventional oil refining process.

In effect, the gamma radiation replaced the 1,000-degree Fahrenheit temperatures needed to refine the oil. Heat, pressures and catalysts are normally used in making petroleum products.

Mrs. Woodward To Face Grand Jury Quiz Friday

MINEOLA, N.Y., Nov. 22 (AP)—Ann Woodward gets her chance Friday to tell a grand jury how she shot to death her millionaire sportsman husband. She has called the slaying a tragic accident.

The 39-year-old former showgirl will face the grand jury without a lawyer and will be exposed to cross-examination on anything she says. Her statements also may be used against her later if the jury indicts her.

Authorities, after their first extensive questioning of Mrs. Woodward last night, repeated their belief she is innocent of any crime in the death of William Woodward Jr., 35, owner of the racehorse Nashua.

Mrs. Woodward has said she shot into the dark hallway of their Oyster Bay, N.Y., home Oct. 30 at a noise she thought was caused by a prowler. Woodward, nude and unarmed in the doorway of his bedroom across the hallway, caught the shotgun charge in the head.

Dist. Atty. Frank Gulotta said today he has about 25 or 30 witnesses on tap, and expects the grand jury hearings to last at least one full day.

The grand jury can indict Mrs. Woodward for murder or anything on down if it thinks she deliberately or negligently shot her husband. Or, if it believes her story, it can dismiss the shooting as an unfortunate accident and hold the widow blameless.

Military Cannot Try Civilians Overseas With Armed Forces

Judge Orders Wife Freed In Slaying

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22 (AP)—Military courts lack jurisdiction to hold criminal trials for civilians who accompany the armed forces overseas, U. S. District Judge Edward A. Tamm ruled today.

Judge Tamm made the broad ruling in the case of Clarice B. Covert, 35, who was convicted by an Air Force court-martial in England in the ax murder of her husband, M.Sgt. Edward E. Covert. She was sentenced to jail for life.

The decision, unless overturned by higher courts, conceivably could result in the freeing of other civilians convicted abroad by military courts.

Armies historically have taken jurisdiction over civilians, including servants and tradesmen, who follow military camps.

The government did not announce immediately whether it would appeal Judge Tamm's ruling.

Judge Tamm based his decision on the Supreme Court's recent ruling in the case of former Air Force Sgt. Robert Toth of Pittsburgh. Toth received an honorable discharge but was arrested and taken to Korea to stand trial for the murder of a South Korean civilian. He was brought home pending the outcome of a long legal battle in his behalf. The Supreme Court, dividing 5-3, held that civilians like Toth were entitled to trial in civil courts.

Mrs. Covert's lawyer, Frederick B. Wiener, argued that the Air Force, under the Toth decision, never had jurisdiction to try Mrs. Covert. But even if it did, he said, it lost jurisdiction when she was returned to this country and put in the Federal Reformatory for Women at Alderson, W.Va.

The U. S. Court of Military Appeals on June 24 reversed Mrs. Covert's conviction on a technical point and the Air Force was preparing to put her on trial again Nov. 28 before a court-martial at Bolling Air Base here.

Probe Of Moon "Sales" Begins

NEW YORK, Nov. 22 (AP)—A "development corporation" formed to sell acreage on the moon found out today it will have to sell the state attorney general's office on the idea first.

The attorney general's office launched an investigation to determine whether anyone is being victimized, "even for small sums."

The development corporation already is reported to have found some 4,500 customers willing to invest $1 each for an acre in the moon's copernicus crater.

Robert R. Coles, former chairman of the Hayden Planetarium in New York City, and others set up the lunar real estate firm recently after filing a court claim to the entire moon. They said no one else ever had laid claim to it, so they decided to do so.

Coles indicated then that the acreage-selling scheme was partly humorous but partly serious also. Said he:

"Sure, it's a joke, but they've been selling square inches of Texas and the Klondike. Why can't we sell the moon by acres?"

Asst. Atty. Gen. John Trubin answered the question this way for his office today in announcing the probe:

"Despite some of the ludicrous aspects of this case, if people are being victimized, even for small sums, that is not funny."

Coles could not be reached immediately for further comment.

Tongay Says He Will Fight Extradition

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 22 (AP)—Florida fugitive Russell Tongay said today he will fight extradition but his attorney declared: "I don't think any statement he might make now would be a rational one."

Tongay, 38, a swim coach, is accused of escaping from custody while serving a 10-year manslaughter term in the death of his 5-year-old aquatot daughter, Kathy. She died after a 33-foot dive.

The Florida Cabinet ruled today that Tongay, who surrendered here yesterday, must return to state prison there as soon as possible.

Republic Corp. Officials Hint Steel Price Hike

NEW YORK, Nov. 22 (AP)—Hints of higher steel prices to come were made in speeches by Republic Steel Corp. officials prepared for a dinner of the New York Society of Security analysts tonight.

C. M. White, president of Republic, the nation's third largest steel producer, said, "the results of Republic's operations in the third quarter of 1955 as compared with the second quarter of 1955 both from the standpoint of total dollar earnings and the per cent earned on sales shows that the steel price increase and the wage increase were almost an exact standoff."

He added, "if certain of our raw material costs continue to rise in the period immediately ahead, another increase in the price of steel will have to be made to maintain the present profit relationship."

Lehman, Rabbi Join In Assailing Immigration Act

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22 (AP)—The McCarran-Walter Immigration Act was renounced as racial discrimination before a Senate group today, but two senators agreed there is but scant prospect of major changes in the law during the coming session of Congress.

Sen. Lehman (D-NY) said the act's national origins quota system for determining which immigrants may enter the United States "is stamped with the loathsome stigma of racial and national discrimination."

In similar vein, Rabbi Abraham J. Feldman, president of the Synagogue Council of America, told a Senate Immigration subcommittee the act is "immersed in racist feeling."

However, Sen. Watkins (R-Utah), presiding, said that if the act were "the monstrosity" one might think from listening to Lehman's testimony, he couldn't conceive that two-thirds of the members of Congress would have voted for it.

The act was passed in 1952 over former President Truman's veto. This required a two-thirds majority in the House and in the Senate.

Watkins, among those who voted to override the veto, said the act was based fundamentally on the principles of previous immigration laws. He chided Lehman for being "a little overemphatic" in his criticism.

Although urging a complete overhaul of the act, Lehman said he would be "less than honest" if he held out the hope that "a major revision of present law is likely in the coming session of Congress."

"I think you are a true prophet," Watkins told him.

Cypriot Students Clash With Police

NICOSIA, Cyprus, Nov. 22 (AP)—Jeering students defying police batons and teargas swirled through the shuttered streets of Nicosia today, tossing stones and hand grenades in another outburst of anti-British demonstrations.

In Larnaca, demonstrators fired shots at British troops as soldiers and police hurled teargas to break up the crowds. Five civilians were injured.

Shopkeepers on Nicosia's main streets put up their shutters and closed down as the demonstrators broke into a church and sounded the bells in defiance of police and British troops patrolling the capital city.

Nicosia demonstrators dispersed quickly as the British troops countered with teargas and police moved in with swinging batons. But they gathered again in other sections, and the police and troops rushed to the new points to repeat the teargas and baton tactics.

Remains AWOL 11 Years To Win Bet

PORT ANGELES, Wash., Nov. 22 (AP)—A man arrested yesterday on a desertion charge told the FBI he left an Air Force station 11 years ago after making a bet with three buddies on who could stay absent without leave the longest.

Andrew Johnson, 31, arrested at Neah Bay, Wash., didn't identify the pals but said he was the last to be found.

Richard D. Auerbach, FBI agent at Seattle, who announced the arrest, said the FBI hadn't confirmed the wager angle but was checking.

Auerbach said Johnson, a Makah Indian, disappeared from a U. S. Air Force station at Edmonton, Alta., in 1944. Johnson was quoted as saying he had kept on the move as a transient laborer most of the time since then.

Fire Sweeps Historic Anne Arundel Home

ANNAPOLIS, Nov. 22 (AP) — Fire early today swept through "Doden", one of Anne Arundel County's historic old homes, virtually destroying all but one wing of the house and its antique furnishings.

Fire companies from five communities succeeded in keeping the flames from spreading into the caretaker's wing of the house, which was built around 1800 by the Steuart family.

The estate, now owned by Ernest W. Pitman, a Washington attorney descended from the Steuart family, is located at Davidsonville, seven miles southwest of here. It was on the Maryland House and Garden Pilgrimage last summer.

Cop Killer Will Die In Electric Chair March 16

CHICAGO, Nov. 22 (AP)—Raising his voice to be heard above the manacled prisoner's repeated outbursts, Judge Gibson E. Gorman today sentenced cop killer Richard Carpenter to die in the electric chair March 16.

A Criminal Court jury that earlier had convicted the 26-year-old gunman of the murder of Detective William J. Murphy in a subway station Aug. 15 fixed the death penalty.

Judge Gorman overruled a defense motion for a new trial, rejecting an argument that Carpenter's psychopathic personality makes him legally insane. The defense attorneys have said they would appeal the conviction to the Illinois Supreme Court.

"Polly!" Carpenter shouted to his aunt, a spectator in the courtroom. "They made me do everything. I'm here against my will and it isn't fair. I can't stand up xxx why don't they let me? Why can't I see you?"

Disheveled, Carpenter was carried in manacles and leg irons into and out of court by six bailiffs. He squirmed while the judge read the sentence and interrupted several times.

"I don't belong in this courtroom, Judge. I don't know why I'm here," he said.

"I don't wish to remain in this courtroom any longer."

Hope Ebbs For 24 Men As Search For Vessel Futile

BOSTON, Nov. 22 (AP)—Hope for 24 men in the crew of the cargo vessel Daytona waned today after 48 hours of search failed to find any trace of the vessel.

The ship reported she was in distress Sunday about 75 miles east of Gloucester in a storm which brought winds of hurricane velocity.

The Coast Guard today recalled the cutters Acushnet and Evergreen, which had criss-crossed hundreds of square miles of churning ocean in a series of gales since Sunday looking for the disabled vessel. Three planes continued the search, however.

The Daytona was en route from Nova Scotia to Philadelphia when she became disabled. She was in command of Capt. Lief Markeson and had a crew of natives of the British West Indies.

Pope Pius XII Also Heard Vision Speak

VATICAN CITY, Nov. 22 (AP)—An influential Italian newspaper said today that Pope Pius XII not only saw a vision of Christ last year, but also heard the vision speak.

Corriere Della Sera of Milan said the pontiff was reciting a prayer during his grave illness last December when the vision clearly and distinctly said, "The Master is present and calls you."

The newspaper said the vision spoke as the Pope came to the line: "In the hour of my death, call me."

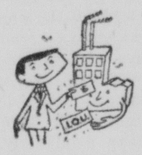

The Pope then opened his eyes and saw the vision, which told him his hour had not yet come, the newspaper reported. After this had occurred, the pontiff, who had been near death at one point, recovered with a speed that surprised his physicians.

Many people aren't clear on just what stocks and bonds are. For example, a recent nation-wide survey showed that only about 23% could correctly describe common stocks. This advertisement is part of a series being published to broaden understanding of investments. We hope you'll find it informative.

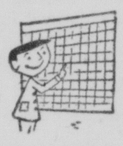

What's the difference between Common Stocks, Preferred Stocks and Bonds?

1. When you buy bonds, you lend a company money. You become its creditor. The company promises to pay you back on a certain date and to pay you interest (usually a fixed rate) during the term of the loan.

2. When you buy stock – either common or preferred–you buy an ownership interest in a company ... its plant, inventories and other assets. If a company prospers and grows, you can share in the increased earnings. If it doesn't, dividends may be cut or omitted.

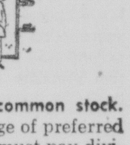

3. The advantages of bonds. Bond prices tend to be more stable than stock prices, although they, too, fluctuate to some extent. The return paid, although usually smaller, tends to be more certain. A company must pay all bond interest before it can declare a dividend on its stock.

4. Preferred vs. common stock. The main advantage of preferred stock: a company must pay dividends to its preferred shareowners before it pays any to the owners of its common stock. The main advantage of common stock: when a company is prospering, it can declare increased dividends to common stockholders (preferred usually pays a fixed dividend).

Toth received an honorable discharge but was arrested and taken to Korea to stand trial for the murder of a South Korean civilian. He was brought home pending the outcome of a long legal battle in his behalf. The Supreme Court, dividing 5-3, held that civilians like Toth were entitled to trial in civil courts.

Mrs. Covert's lawyer, Frederick B. Wiener, argued that the Air Force, under the Toth decision, never had jurisdiction to try Mrs. Covert. But even if it did, he said, it lost jurisdiction when she was returned to this country and put in the Federal Reformatory for Women at Alderson, W.Va.

The U. S. Court of Military Appeals on June 24 reversed Mrs. Covert's conviction on a technical point and the Air Force was preparing to put her on trial again Nov. 28 before a court-martial at Bolling Air Base here.

Probe Of Moon "Sales" Begins

NEW YORK, Nov. 22 (AP)—A "development corporation" formed to sell acreage on the moon found out today it will have to sell the state attorney general's office on the idea first.

The attorney general's office launched an investigation to determine whether anyone is being victimized, "even for small sums."

The development corporation already is reported to have found some 4,500 customers willing to invest $1 each for an acre in the moon's copernicus crater.

Robert R. Coles, former chairman of the Hayden Planetarium in New York City, and others set up the lunar real estate firm recently after filing a court claim to the entire moon. They said no one else ever had laid claim to it, so they decided to do so.

Coles indicated then that the acreage-selling scheme was partly humorous but partly serious also. Said he:

"Sure, it's a joke, but they've been selling square inches of Texas and the Klondike. Why can't we sell the moon by acres?"

Asst. Atty. Gen. John Trubin answered the question this way for his office today in announcing the probe:

"Despite some of the ludicrous aspects of this case, if people are being victimized, even for small sums, that is not funny."

Coles could not be reached immediately for further comment.

Tongay Says He Will Fight Extradition

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 22 (AP)—Florida fugitive Russell Tongay said today he will fight extradition but his attorney declared: "I don't think any statement he might make now would be a rational one."

Tongay, 38, a swim coach, is accused of escaping from custody while serving a 10-year manslaughter term in the death of his 5-year-old aquatot daughter, Kathy. She died after a 33-foot dive.

The Florida Cabinet ruled today that Tongay, who surrendered here yesterday, must return to state prison there as soon as possible.

Republic Corp. Officials Hint Steel Price Hike

NEW YORK, Nov. 22 (AP)—Hints of higher steel prices to come were made in speeches by Republic Steel Corp. officials prepared for a dinner of the New York Society of Security analysts tonight.

C. M. White, president of Republic, the nation's third largest steel producer, said, "the results of Republic's operations in the third quarter of 1955 as compared with the second quarter of 1955 both from the standpoint of total dollar earnings and the per cent earned on sales shows that the steel price increase and the wage increase were almost an exact standoff."

He added, "if certain of our raw material costs continue to rise in the period immediately ahead, another increase in the price of steel will have to be made to maintain the present profit relationship."

Lehman, Rabbi Join In Assailing Immigration Act

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22 (AP)—The McCarran-Walter Immigration Act was renounced as racial discrimination before a Senate group today, but two senators agreed there is but scant prospect of major changes in the law during the coming session of Congress.

Sen. Lehman (D-NY) said the act's national origins quota system for determining which immigrants may enter the United States "is stamped with the loathsome stigma of racial and national discrimination."

In similar vein, Rabbi Abraham J. Feldman, president of the Synagogue Council of America, told a Senate Immigration subcommittee the act is "immersed in racist feeling."

However, Sen. Watkins (R-Utah), presiding, said that if the act were 'the monstrosity" one might think from listening to Lehman's testimony, he couldn't conceive that two-thirds of the members of Congress would have voted for it.

The act was passed in 1952 over former President Truman's veto. This required a two-thirds majority in the House and in the Senate.

Watkins, among those who voted to override the veto, said the act was based fundamentally on the principles of previous immigration laws. He chided Lehman for being "a little overemphatic" in his criticism.

Although urging a complete overhaul of the act, Lehman said he would be "less than honest" if he held out the hope that "a major revision of present law is likely in the coming session of Congress."

"I think you are a true prophet," Watkins told him.

Cypriot Students Clash With Police

NICOSIA, Cyprus, Nov. 22 (AP)—Jeering students defying police batons and teargas swirled through the shuttered streets of Nicosia today, tossing stones and hand grenades in another outburst of anti-British demonstrations.

In Larnaca, demonstrators fired shots at British troops as soldiers and police hurled teargas to break up the crowds. Five civilians were injured.

Shopkeepers on Nicosia's main streets put up their shutters and closed down as the demonstrators broke into a church and sounded the bells in defiance of police and British troops patrolling the capital city.

Nicosia demonstrators dispersed quickly as the British troops countered with teargas and police moved in with swinging batons. But they gathered again in other sections, and the police and troops rushed to the new points to repeat the teargas and baton tactics.

Remains AWOL 11 Years To Win Bet

PORT ANGELES, Wash., Nov. 22 (AP)—A man arrested yesterday on a desertion charge told the FBI he left an Air Force station 11 years ago after making a bet with three buddies on who could stay absent without leave the longest.

Andrew Johnson, 31, arrested at Neah Bay, Wash., didn't identify the pals but said he was the last to be found.

Richard D. Auerbach, FBI agent at Seattle, who announced the arrest, said the FBI hadn't confirmed the wager angle but was checking.

Auerbach said Johnson, a Makah Indian, disappeared from a U. S. Air Force station at Edmonton, Alta., in 1944. Johnson was quoted as saying he had kept on the move as a transient laborer most of the time since then.

Fire Sweeps Historic Anne Arundel Home

ANNAPOLIS, Nov. 22 (AP) — Fire early today swept through "Doden", one of Anne Arundel County's historic old homes, virtually destroying all but one wing of the house and its antique furnishings.

Fire companies from five communities succeeded in keeping the flames from spreading into the caretaker's wing of the house, which was built around 1800 by the Steuart family.

The estate, now owned by Ernest W. Pitman, a Washington attorney descended from the Steuart family, is located at Davidsonville, seven miles southwest of here. It was on the Maryland House and Garden Pilgrimage last summer.

Cop Killer Will Die In Electric Chair March 16

CHICAGO, Nov. 22 (AP)—Raising his voice to be heard above the manacled prisoner's repeated outbursts, Judge Gibson E. Gorman today sentenced cop killer Richard Carpenter to die in the electric chair March 16.

A Criminal Court jury that earlier had convicted the 26-year-old gunman of the murder of Detective William J. Murphy in a subway station Aug. 15 fixed the death penalty.

Judge Gorman overruled a defense motion for a new trial, rejecting an argument that Carpenter's psychopathic personality makes him legally insane. The defense attorneys have said they would appeal the conviction to the Illinois Supreme Court.

"Polly!" Carpenter shouted to his aunt, a spectator in the courtroom. "They made me do everything. I'm here against my will and it isn't fair. I can't stand up xxx why don't they let me? Why can't I see you?"

Disheveled, Carpenter was carried in manacles and leg irons into and out of court by six bailiffs. He squirmed while the judge read the sentence and interrupted several times.

"I don't belong in this courtroom, Judge. I don't know why I'm here," he said.

Hope Ebbs For 24 Men As Search For Vessel Futile

BOSTON, Nov. 22 (AP)—Hope for 24 men in the crew of the cargo vessel Daytona waned today after 48 hours of search failed to find any trace of the vessel.

The ship reported she was in distress Sunday about 75 miles east of Gloucester in a storm which brought winds of hurricane velocity.

The Coast Guard today recalled the cutters Acushnet and Evergreen, which had criss-crossed hundreds of square miles of churning ocean in a series of gales since Sunday looking for the disabled vessel. Three planes continued the search, however.

The Daytona was en route from Nova Scotia to Philadelphia when she became disabled. She was in command of Capt. Lief Markeson and had a crew of natives of the British West Indies.

Pope Pius XII Also Heard Vision Speak

VATICAN CITY, Nov. 22 (AP)—An influential Italian newspaper said today that Pope Pius XII not only saw a vision of Christ last year, but also heard the vision speak.

Corriere Della Sera of Milan said the pontiff was reciting a prayer during his grave illness last December when the vision clearly and distinctly said, "The Master is present and calls you."

The newspaper said the vision spoke as the Pope came to the line: "In the hour of my death, call me."

The Pope then opened his eyes and saw the vision, which told him his hour had not yet come, the newspaper reported. After this had occurred, the pontiff, who had been near death at one point, recovered with a speed that surprised his physicians.

William I, the Silent, founder of the Dutch republic, was a German.

Many people aren't clear on just what stocks and bonds are. For example, a recent nation-wide survey showed that only about 23% could correctly describe common stocks. This advertisement is part of a series being published to broaden understanding of investments. We hope you'll find it informative.

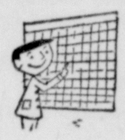

What's the difference between Common Stocks, Preferred Stocks and Bonds?

1. When you buy bonds, you lend a company money. You become its creditor. The company promises to pay you back on a certain date and to pay you interest (usually a fixed rate) during the term of the loan.

2. When you buy stock – either common or preferred – you buy an ownership interest in a company ... its plant, inventories and other assets. If a company prospers and grows, you can share in the increased earnings. If it doesn't, dividends may be cut or omitted.

3. The advantages of bonds. Bond prices tend to be more stable than stock prices, although they, too, fluctuate to some extent. The return paid, although usually smaller, tends to be more certain. A company must pay all bond interest before it can declare a dividend on its stock.

4. Preferred vs. common stock. The main advantage of preferred stock: a company must pay dividends to its preferred shareowners before it pays any to the owners of its common stock. The main advantage of common stock: when a company is prospering, it can declare increased dividends to common stockholders (preferred usually pays a fixed dividend).

Half Of Youngsters Who Got Free Polio Shots In One County Pass Up Second

BALTIMORE, Nov. 22 (AP) — The State Health Department reported today half the youngsters who got free polio shots in one Maryland county last spring did not return to get the second.

Dr. Edward Davens, chief of the department's Bureau of Preventive Medicine, said there was no conclusive answer to the question: "Why?"

He reported 98 and 99 per cent had come back for second shots in two other counties where the free program has been completed.

Wicomico County held a "mop-up clinic" last night for youngsters who for various reasons had missed the second injection.

The 49 who turned up made a total of 1,488 youngsters in the county who had completed the free series — 508 fewer than took the first shot last spring.

Dr. Seth H. Hurdle, county health officer, said there was no doubt some had been frightened off by mishaps last year in which faulty vaccine apparently caused polio cases.

Dr. Hurdle recommended that youngsters get the shots.

About 112,000 Maryland youngsters — 90 per cent of those eligible — got initial shots last spring when free vaccine was made available for first and second graders by the National Foundation for Poliomyelitis.

There have been no polio cases in Maryland this year traced to the vaccine.

Dr. Davens also said the early difficulties with the vaccine probably were to blame for the failure of many youngsters to take second shots.

Although the low return percentage of 50 per cent was set in a small rural county, the 99 per cent figure was set in a similar county.

"My overall impression is that the enthusiasm and acceptance for the vaccine in urban and suburban areas far exceeds that in the rural," Dr. Davens said.

He also reported private physicians now have administered over 100,000 shots to youngsters who didn't get them in the free program.

All children who have reached their first birthdays but are not yet 11 years old are eligible now for inoculation.

Dr. Davens said there so far has been enough vaccine in Maryland to take care of those who have applied for the shots.

In fact, he reported, some doctors got more vaccine than they were able to use and the excess had to be redistributed. He said there still is available a small amount of the vaccine alloted to Maryland.

Youngsters not eligible for the free vaccine have been getting shots from family doctors, or at public health clinics if they customarily get their medical attention at public expense.

Last year's first and second graders also will have to get their third shots this way.

U. Of Md. Graduates First Nurses' Class

BALTIMORE, Nov. 22 (AP) — The University of Maryland tonight graduated its first class of practical nurses.

Eighteen women who have been going to classes and helping care for patients at University Hospital since last March received certificates from Dr. Wilson H. Elkins, president of the university.

Most of them already have jobs on the hospital staff.

Miss Helen Troy, director of the school's practical nursing department, said applications are being taken for the next class, which will start in March. A second class started its work in September.

Education Dept. Cites Reasons For Budget Hike

BALTIMORE, Nov. 22 (AP)—"More children, more teachers and higher salaries" are the reasons why Maryland's Department of Education has asked for an $8,355,893 increase in its budget for fiscal 1957.

The department is asking a total of $66,258,284 for the budgetary year starting next July 1.

The budget includes such items as State aid to libraries and to handicapped children as well as better-known expenditures like aid per classroom unit, basic aid of $20 per pupil, part payment of teachers' salaries, and the "equalization fund."

The total comprises about 63 million dollars in general funds of the State, a little more than two million in Federal funds and $494,503 in special funds, which are mainly derived from fees at the teachers' colleges.

The largest single increase in requests was in the equalization fund. The department wants $22,456,448—almost three million dollars more than the present figure. The equalization fund is anarrangement under which the State pays money to the counties in proportion to their total property assessments, and to school enrollments. The lower the assessments are, the more the state pays, so the equalization fund has long been a sore point with the wealthier counties.

Aid per classroom unit was up $747,810 for a total request of $11,265,930, and basic aid of $20 per pupil was up $580,560 to $9,792,000, reflecting the continuing population growth.

The only three requests which were less than current expenditures were for the school lunch and milk programs and veterans' training, and the federal government pays for those.

Langenfelder Low On Tunnel Approach

BALTIMORE, Nov. 22 (AP)—By a margin of only $864, C. J. Langenfelder and Sons Inc. of Baltimore today apparently won the job of building a 2½-million dollar section of the expressway approaches for the Baltimore Harbor Tunnel.

Langenfelder's low figure on the project when bids were opened today by the State Roads Commission was $2,541,689.

Nello L. Teer of Durham, N. C., bid $2,542,553.

Baltimore Contractors, the only other bidder, offered to do the work for $2,706,137.

Roads Commission engineers will now study the figures for several days to make sure there was no mistake in the hundred or more separate price quotations which make up the bids.

The bids covered the building of about a mile and a half of dual highway on the west approach in Baltimore County, from Hammonds Ferry Road (Maryland 167) just north of the Patapsco River, eastward across the new Baltimore-Washington Parkway to the vicinity of Alternate U. S. 301 just north of North Linthicum.

Included is an interchange with the Parkway and four bridges over Hammonds Ferry Road and other routes.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 22 (AP) — "I know where I can get whisky wholesale," a customer whispered to Jerry Goldfaden, a clerk in a Baltimore furniture store.

Goldfaden stayed in the car out side and waited . . . and waited . . . and waited . . .

Leaps To His Death

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22 (AP)—A man walked to the railing of Calvert Street Bridge today, took off his hat and coat and leaped over head first. He died after falling on the roadway below.

The man was identified tentatively as Charles E. Hetherington, 63, Washington.

Furnace Fumes Nearly Wipe Out Family Of Five

ROCKVILLE, Md., Nov. 22 (AP)—A family of five was nearly wiped out today by furnace fumes.

They are Mr. and Mrs. Victor L. LeBre and their three children, Lucy Diane, 5, Jeanette, 3 and John Steven, 1.

John, Jeanette and Mrs. LeBre were unconscious when rescuers arrived and administered oxygen. Dr. Stephen Jones said the family had upset stomachs but none was seriously affected.

Police and workers from the Washington Gas Light Co. speculated an open door on the basement furnace admitted too much air and that a back draft caused poisonous exhaust fumes to enter the warm-air circulating system.

BARRANQUILLA, Colombia, Nov. 22 (AP)—More than 5,000 persons were left homeless today by flood water of the Magdalena River.

Health Workers Will Meet Dec. 8

BALTIMORE, Nov. 22 (AP)—Health workers from both government agencies and private organizations in Maryland have set the first meeting of their new Maryland Public Health Assn. for Dec. 8 at Annapolis.

Dr. William H. F. Warthen, Baltimore County health officer and temporary chairman of the new group, said nationally prominent authorities on public health will address the meeting. A panel of health workers will present cases which illustrate the cooperation of various agencies in health work.

Officers will be elected at the meeting.

"The increasing number of health workers, along with the rising emphasis on health, requires an integrated association to work out problems in a satisfactory and efficient manner to the best advantage of the people served," Dr. Warthern declared.

He pointed out 30 other states have public health associations. The State and city health departments, the Johns Hopkins School of Hygiene and Public Health, and the Epidemiological Society of Maryland have endorsed the project.

Dr. Warthen estimated there are about 40 public and private agencies whose health workers will join in the new association.

U. Of Md. Graduates First Nurses' Class

BALTIMORE, Nov. 22 (AP) — The University of Maryland tonight graduated its first class of practical nurses.

Eighteen women who have been going to classes and helping care for patients at University Hospital since last March received certificates from Dr. Wilson H. Elkins, president of the university.

Most of them already have jobs on the hospital staff.

Miss Helen Troy, director of the school's practical nursing department, said applications are being taken for the next class, which will start in March. A second class started its work in September.

Education Dept. Cites Reasons For Budget Hike

BALTIMORE, Nov. 22 (AP)—"More children, more teachers and higher salaries" are the reasons why Maryland's Department of Education has asked for an $8,355,893 increase in its budget for fiscal 1957.

The department is asking a total of $66,258,284 for the budgetary year starting next July 1.

The budget includes such items as State aid to libraries and to handicapped children as well as better-known expenditures like aid per classroom unit, basic aid of $20 per pupil, part payment of teachers' salaries, and the "equalization fund."

The total comprises about 63 million dollars in general funds of the State, a little more than two million in Federal funds and $494,503 in special funds, which are mainly derived from fees at the teachers' colleges.

The largest single increase in requests was in the equalization fund. The department wants $22,456,448—almost three million dollars more than the present figure. The equalization fund is anarrangement under which the State pays money to the counties in proportion to their total property assessments, and to school enrollments. The lower the assessments are, the more the state pays, so the equalization fund has long been a sore point with the wealthier counties.

Aid per classroom unit was up $747,810 for a total request of $11,265,930, and basic aid of $20 per pupil was up $580,560 to $9,792,000, reflecting the continuing population growth.

The only three requests which were less than current expenditures were for the school lunch and milk programs and veterans' training, and the federal government pays for those.

Langenfelder Low On Tunnel Approach

BALTIMORE, Nov. 22 (AP)—By a margin of only $864, C. J. Langenfelder and Sons Inc. of Baltimore today apparently won the job of building a 2½-million dollar section of the expressway approaches for the Baltimore Harbor Tunnel.

Langenfelder's low figure on the project when bids were opened today by the State Roads Commission was $2,541,689.

Nello L. Teer of Durham, N. C., bid $2,542,553.

Baltimore Contractors, the only other bidder, offered to do the work for $2,706,137.

Roads Commission engineers will now study the figures for several days to make sure there was no mistake in the hundred or more separate price quotations which make up the bids.

The bids covered the building of about a mile and a half of dual highway on the west approach in Baltimore County, from Hammonds Ferry Road (Maryland 167) just north of the Patapsco River, eastward across the new Baltimore-Washington Parkway to the vicinity of Alternate U. S. 301 just north of North Linthicum.

Included is an interchange with the Parkway and four bridges over Hammonds Ferry Road and other routes.

Gets No Whisky And Loses $100

BALTIMORE, Nov. 22 (AP) — "I know where I can get whisky wholesale," a customer whispered to Jerry Goldfaden, a clerk in a Baltimore furniture store.

Goldfaden gave the man $100 and drove him to a warehouse. The man went inside.

Leaps To His Death

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22 (AP)—A man walked to the railing of Calvert Street Bridge today, took off his hat and coat and leaped over head first. He died after falling on the roadway below.

The man was identified tentatively as Charles E. Hetherington, 63, Washington.

Furnace Fumes Nearly Wipe Out Family Of Five

ROCKVILLE, Md., Nov. 22 (AP)—A family of five was nearly wiped out today by furnace fumes.

They are Mr. and Mrs. Victor L. LeBre and their three children, Lucy Diane, 5, Jeanette, 3 and John Steven, 1.

John, Jeanette and Mrs. LeBre were unconscious when rescuers arrived and administered oxygen. Dr. Stephen Jones said the family had upset stomachs but none was seriously affected.

Police and workers from the Washington Gas Light Co. speculated an open door on the basement furnace admitted too much air and that a back draft caused poisonous exhaust fumes to enter the warm-air circulating system.

Floods Hit Colombia

BARRANQUILLA, Colombia, Nov. 22 (AP)—More than 5,000 persons were left homeless today by flood water of the Magdalena River.

Health Workers Will Meet Dec. 8

BALTIMORE, Nov. 22 (AP)—Health workers from both government agencies and private organizations in Maryland have set the first meeting of their new Maryland Public Health Assn. for Dec. 8 at Annapolis.

Dr. William H. F. Warthen, Baltimore County health officer and temporary chairman of the new group, said nationally prominent authorities on public health will address the meeting. A panel of health workers will present cases which illustrate the cooperation of various agencies in health work.

Officers will be elected at the meeting.

"The increasing number of health workers, along with the rising emphasis on health, requires an integrated association to work out problems in a satisfactory and efficient manner to the best advantage of the people served," Dr. Warthern declared.

He pointed out 30 other states have public health associations. The State and city health departments, the Johns Hopkins School of Hygiene and Public Health, and the Epidemiological Society of Maryland have endorsed the project.

Dr. Warthen estimated there are about 40 public and private agencies whose health workers will join in the new association.

Visiting Eskimo Heroes Shatter Illusions

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22 (AP) — A couple of heroic Eskimos are in town, shattering illusions right and left.

The Eskimos, both members of the Alaska National Guard, were honored at the Pentagon this week for leading a party to the speedy rescue of 11 members of a Navy patrol plane shot down by the Russians over the Bering Sea June 22.

M. Sgt. Willis Walunga, 31, and Sgt. 1. C. Clifford Iknokinok, 28, got citations and had Navy wings pinned on them, quite unusual for landlubbers.

If they were impressed, they didn't show it. They seemed more interested in, and amused by, reactions to their comments on life as it is lived on St. Lawrence Island, only 30 miles from the Russian border.

Most people are aware by now that most Eskimos don't live in igloos, and Walunga drove that point home neatly.

"Igloos? Sure, I've seen an igloo. The same place you saw an igloo, in a geography book."

Dressed in their warm winter costumes, they dropped by the Smithsonian Institution for a look at how scholars think Eskimos live.

"Interesting," observed Walunga the more talkative Eskimo. "I now have seen the second kayak of my life. I saw one, on a rack, in Nome once. We use open skin boats."

Walunga and Iknokinok hunt for a living, when they aren't national guarding. They aren't particular about what they get, walrus, seal, fox or whale.

"We eat them all, except the fox," Iknokinok said.

"The walrus is good eating," Walunga said. "Walrus liver is better than cow's liver."

With Christmas coming on, it's dismaying to report this, but facts must be faced: There's a reindeer shortage on St. Lawrence Island.

"Overgrazed," Iknokinok said. "We're down to 200."

Walunga, father of three, says this worries Eskimo small fry, too.

"Sure they believe in Santa Claus," he said. "They think he lives at the North Pole."

Well, it's a relief to know the Esikimos are on the job, not only because they saved 11 fliers and hustled them off to a hospital, but also because they seem so alert at a place where alertness is needed.

They were talking through that incredible maze of inner corridors in the Pentagon when a reporter asked Walunga, "Which way is north?" Without even bothering to look for moss on the Pentagon walls, Walunga jerked his thumb over his shoulder. "Back that way," he said.

The reporter dropped over to Iknokinok and asked him the same question. "Right behind me," he said.

A check with one of our native guards, who had a roadmap of the pentagon terrain, showed the Eskimos were right.

The awed concensus: A clever, useful people, these Eskimos.

German-Designed Can Helped Allies

LONDON, Nov. 22 (AP)—A can designed by the Germans was officially credited today with helping the Allies win World War II. It became known universally as "the jerrican."

The story is told in the war history of the Royal Army Service Corps as follows:

The British army had been running into trouble moving gasoline, when they came across the five-gallon steel welded can abandoned by the Germans in the fighting in the western desert in 1941. A sample was sent to London with orders to the War Office:

"Give us this can in place of the leaky British 'flimsy.'"

The German can was adopted as regular standing British equipment.

Labor Gives Ike Chance To Take Stand In Dispute

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22 (AP)—Organized labor has given President Eisenhower an early opportunity to take a stand in a growing dispute over Republican policy toward labor unions in the 1956 campaign.

One GOP group, including Sens. Goldwater of Arizona and Knowland of California, has charged that "labor bosses" are amassing huge political "slush funds" to influence the coming presidential elections for the Democratic party.

Another GOP contingent, including Secretary of Labor Mitchell and Govs. McKeldin of Maryland, Knight of California and Hall of Kansas, are strongly opposed to such statements.

The AFL and CIO announced yesterday they have invited Eisenhower to speak at their joint merger convention Dec. 5-9 in New York City. The announcement said that while the White House has indicated Eisenhower won't be able to attend personally because he is recuperating from his illness, he will send a message.

Rules Changed To Permit Letters Inside Packages

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22 (AP)—After next Monday you can mail junior a parental letter right in the bundle with the shirts he sent home from college to be laundered.

Or a personal message can go under the wrappings with a Christmas gift.

It will only be necessary to note on the outside of the package that there is a letter inside, and put the postage for it on the bundle in addition to the stamps to cover parcel post.

The Post Office Department announced the change of rules today.

It also extends to second-class mail, permitting communications to be wrapped in with magazines and such. The department said that would be valuable in the case of a publisher who wants to tell the recipient of a gift subscription who the donor is.

The department said the new rule should be handy for business houses which may want to explain how an order is being filled, or to send instructions with their products.

Voting Machine Will Be Installed At City Hall

At the request of City Commissioner William V. Keegan a voting machine will be placed in the City Hall rotunda so that citizens can familiarize themselves with the device.

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday voted to have the Board of Election Supervisors put the machine in City Hall for the convenience of persons who otherwise would not go to the Court House, where a machine is on hand for demonstration purposes.

County Commissioner James Orr placed the motion before the board, stating that Commissioner Keegan had made the request.

Members of the county board yesterday said a letter will be sent to local banks asking them to submit proposals on a loan to finance the purchase of the 103 new voting machines. The devices are stored in the Court House basement. In the event the banks provide a lower rate of interest than would be possible under a state loan fund, the county will finance the machines locally.

The county board also agreed yesterday to take over maintenance of about 600 feet of a proposed road from U. S. Route 40 into the area serving the new State Police barracks. Liberty Trust Company branch bank and National Jet Company property in LaVale.

The road construction will be paid for by the interested parties and they will also have to grant the county the necessary rights of way and build a roadway meeting county roads specifications.

J. Walker Chapman, county roads supervisor, said the State Police had made the request for the road maintenance.

Chapman also reported that after a conference with Arthur G. Ramey, supervisor of school bus transportation, service will be provided to children living on the Piney Flats Road, which runs off the Wildcat Hollow Road on Irons Mountain.

A delegation from that area appeared before the board recently to request the extension of the bus service about a mile down the road.

Commissioner Charles N. Wilkinson made a request on behalf of John Twigg of Eastman Road that a dead end sign be placed on that roadway. He said Twigg reported some motorists had driven out the road unaware it was a dead end and had trouble turning around. The request was turned over to Chapman.

Mrs. Edward Whisenhunt appeared before the board to complain of water running from the Cresap Mill Run Road near Oldtown onto her property. This matter was referred to Chapman. A report was given the board on a request for repairs to Mountain Road in District 13 in the Mt. Savage area. Chapman said the road is not a bona fide county road and part of it had been repaired last year.

Easy Payment Plan Slated For City Taxes

The city tax collector will accept partial payment on real estate and personal taxes, John J. Long, finance commissioner, announced yesterday.

Long said that upon reading the report of Tax Collector George E. Davis on the current status of collections, he was extremely gratified to note the high percentage of taxes already paid.

"It indicates that the taxpayers are interested in paying their taxes before the interest period begins on October 24.

Must Pay Interest

"As most taxpayers realize, there is no interest charge made upon taxes due and owing for the first 60 days following the levy date, August 24, but after the expiration of that 60-day period, there is a charge of one-half of one per cent per month. This interest is retroactive to the date of the levy.

"Since the 60-day period of grace has expired, it is quite possible that some taxpayers have not been able to take advantage of that period when interest is not charged because of some other pressing obligations.

"Accordingly, I wish to state that the tax collector's office is willing to accept partial payment on taxes due.

There have been many inquiries concerning whether the tax office will accept installment payments less than the full amount which is due, and the answer to that question is 'yes.'

Suggests Budget

"In fact, we urge people to endeavor to budget themselves, to take care of at least monthly payments on their taxes if they still owe for 1955.

"I would like to point out also that a service charge of 50 cents must be made to cover the notice which is given all delinquent accounts on which no payment has been made for taxes prior to January 1, 1956.

"If the taxpayer has made some down payment on his taxes prior to that date, he will save himself this service charge.

"The tax collector's office is open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. five days a week, and particularly I wish to emphasize that there is always someone in the tax office during the lunch hour period.

"As finance commissioner I wish to call this matter to the attention of the taxpayers so that they may be aware of our desire to extend all reasonable cooperation."

Plans Convention

The Oriental Missionary Society will conduct a convention in the Calvary Methodist Church at Ridgeley from November 27 through November 30.

Non-Voters Dropped From City Books

The city registration office is in the annual process of removing names of persons who have not voted in a municipal election in the last five years.

The check is being made by Mrs. Ruth Manges, clerk, according to City Clerk Wallace G. Ullery, who is in charge of the office.

Ullery said "quite a few" will be affected by the change but since work is just getting under way no estimate of the number is possible.

The city's registration system was set up in 1951 and its records go back to 1948. The first removal of names of those who had not voted in five years occurred in 1953. No names were removed in 1954, Ullery said.

The removal of names under way now is for those who have not voted since 1950.

The number of removed names is expected to be large because the city elects its Mayor and Council every four years instead of every two as had been customary prior to 1952.

Anyone dropped from the registration books for non-voting must re-register in order to vote, Ullery said.

Hurt In Accident

Mrs. Dorothy Kave, 42, wife of Jesse Kave, Allegany Grove, was admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital Monday after sustaining injuries in a fall near her home. Attaches said she suffered a back injury when she fell on a bank near a pond in her backyard.

Voting Machine Will Be Installed At City Hall

At the request of City Commissioner William V. Keegan a voting machine will be placed in the City Hall rotunda so that citizens can familiarize themselves with the device.

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday voted to have the Board of Election Supervisors put the machine in City Hall for the convenience of persons who otherwise would not go to the Court House, where a machine is on hand for demonstration purposes.

County Commissioner James Orr placed the motion before the board, stating that Commissioner Keegan had made the request.

Members of the county board yesterday said a letter will be sent to local banks asking them to submit proposals on a loan to finance the purchase of the 103 new voting machines. The devices are stored in the Court House basement. In the event the banks provide a lower rate of interest than would be possible under a state loan fund, the county will finance the machines locally.

The county board also agreed yesterday to take over maintenance of about 600 feet of a proposed road from U. S. Route 40 into the area serving the new State Police barracks. Liberty Trust Company branch bank and National Jet Company property in LaVale.

The road construction will be paid for by the interested parties and they will also have to grant the county the necessary rights of way and build a roadway meeting county roads specifications.

J. Walker Chapman, county roads supervisor, said the State Police had made the request for the road maintenance.

Chapman also reported that after a conference with Arthur G. Ramey, supervisor of school bus transportation, service will be provided to children living on the Piney Flats Road, which runs off the Wildcat Hollow Road on Irons Mountain.

A delegation from that area appeared before the board recently to request the extension of the bus service about a mile down the road.

Commissioner Charles N. Wilkinson made a request on behalf of John Twigg of Eastman Road that a dead end sign be placed on that roadway. He said Twigg reported some motorists had driven out the road unaware it was a dead end and had trouble turning around. The request was turned over to Chapman.

Mrs. Edward Whisenhunt appeared before the board to complain of water running from the Cresap Mill Run Road near Oldtown onto her property. This matter was referred to Chapman. A report was given the board on a request for repairs to Mountain Road in District 13 in the Mt. Savage area. Chapman said the road is not a bona fide county road and part of it had been repaired last year.

Easy Payment Plan Slated For City Taxes

The city tax collector will accept partial payment on real estate and personal taxes, John J. Long, finance commissioner, announced yesterday.

Long said that upon reading the report of Tax Collector George E. Davis on the current status of collections, he was extremely gratified to note the high percentage of taxes already paid.

"It indicates that the taxpayers are interested in paying their taxes before the interest period begins on October 24.

Must Pay Interest

"As most taxpayers realize, there is no interest charge made upon taxes due and owing for the first 60 days following the levy date, August 24, but after the expiration of that 60-day period, there is a charge of one-half of one per cent per month. This interest is retroactive to the date of the levy.

"Since the 60-day period of grace has expired, it is quite possible that some taxpayers have not been able to take advantage of that period when interest is not charged because of some other pressing obligations.

"Accordingly, I wish to state that the tax collector's office is willing to accept partial payment on taxes due.

There have been many inquiries concerning whether the tax office will accept installment payments less than the full amount which is due, and the answer to that question is 'yes.'

Suggests Budget

"In fact, we urge people to endeavor to budget themselves, to take care of at least monthly payments on their taxes if they still owe for 1955.

"I would like to point out also that a service charge of 50 cents must be made to cover the notice which is given all delinquent accounts on which no payment has been made for taxes prior to January 1, 1956.

"If the taxpayer has made some down payment on his taxes prior to that date, he will save himself this service charge.

"The tax collector's office is open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. five days a week, and particularly I wish to emphasize that there is always someone in the tax office during the lunch hour period.

"As finance commissioner I wish to call this matter to the attention of the taxpayers so that they may be aware of our desire to extend all reasonable cooperation."

Plans Convention

The Oriental Missionary Society will conduct a convention in the Calvary Methodist Church at Ridgeley from November 27 through November 30.

Non-Voters Dropped From City Books

The city registration office is in the annual process of removing names of persons who have not voted in a municipal election in the last five years.

The check is being made by Mrs. Ruth Manges, clerk, according to City Clerk Wallace G. Ullery, who is in charge of the office.

Ullery said "quite a few" will be affected by the change but since work is just getting under way no estimate of the number is possible.

The city's registration system was set up in 1951 and its records go back to 1948. The first removal of names of those who had not voted in five years occurred in 1953. No names were removed in 1954, Ullery said.

The removal of names under way now is for those who have not voted since 1950.

The number of removed names is expected to be large because the city elects its Mayor and Council every four years instead of every two as had been customary prior to 1952.

Anyone dropped from the registration books for non-voting must re-register in order to vote, Ullery said.

There's Good News On Domestic Front

However bad the news from abroad has been in recent days, there is at least the comforting thought that the domestic news continues to be excellent.

Secretary of Commerce Weeks says the first six months of 1956 promise to be even better, economically, than 1955, which will be the best business year this country has ever enjoyed. And Budget Director Rowland R. Hughes says he now believes the budget can be balanced, both during the current fiscal year and the one ahead, without harming the defense effort.

Every time the words "balanced budget" are mentioned the phrase "tax reduction" leaps to mind like a conditioned reflex, and with good reason.

Tax rates on both business and individuals are abnormally high for peacetime. But nobody yet knows, Hughes admits, whether they can be cut without creating a deficit. Thus Congress may be left with the unhappy choice of foregoing a tax cut or continuing, in a period of high prosperity, the deficit financing which feeds inflation and gradually impairs the purchasing power of the dollar.

After a period of watchful waiting, the Federal Reserve Board has apparently decided that the danger that booming credit will overinflate the boom is still greater than the danger of recession. It has taken another discreet pull at the brake by increasing the discount rate from 2¼ to 2½ per cent at the Federal Reserve Banks.

By fixing this new rate at the highest level since 1934 the FRB has made it clear that it believes there is more risk that the boom will run away than run down. Many economic signposts seem to supoprt that conclusion.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Mr. Justice Warren

Few men in public life are more affable or better liked than Earl Warren, chief justice of the United States. He has achieved the highest distinction that can come to a lawyer in this country. When Earl Warren was appointed chief Justice, he announced that he would not leave the bench for an elective position. The position of chief justice is singular in American life and it is not a stepping stone to the presidency.

The illness of President Eisenhower effected this political change: It had been expected that he would run for a second term and that he would be elected; therefore no important Republican projected himself as a candidate for 1956. When it was thought that he could not run, many prominent Republicans began to toy with the idea that each was his suitable successor. Now that he is better, fewer are proclaiming their worthiness.

There is no evidence that Chief Justice Earl Warren has encouraged discussion of his name as a candidate. However, many New Dealers and Democrats and some Republicans have proclaimed him as the inevitable successor. It is not astonishing that those most active in his behalf have had a long reputation of projecting candidates for the Republican party up to the moment of the Republican convention. After that meeting, they support the Democrat and devote themselves to smearing the man whose nomination they so fiercely advocated. It sometimes looks like a political trick.

In the instance of Earl Warren, it sure does look like a trick because evidence from southern and border states indicates that he could not carry them because of his decision concerning the integration of races in the school system. Without discussing the merits of desegregation, the political fact is that the Republicans need a few southern states and all the border states and it now looks as though Warren could not get them.

Those who so ardently mention his name in preference to Nixon, Knowland, or any other candidate need to establish that the chief justice's opinion on desegragation will not weaken his chances of election. For this much is certain: The Republican party does not believe that it need run loose in 1956, as had to be done when it ran against Franklin D. Roosevelt. Only an accident could have defeated Roosevelt and the accident did not occur during four elections.

The Republican party expects to win whether Dwight D. Eisenhower runs or not and therefore the Republican convention will not choose a candidate who is likely to lose. This has nothing to do with a candidate's fitness or worthness. It has to do with his prospects.

The same group of non-Republicans offers Milton Eisenhower, the President's brother, as an alternative to Warren. Again, it would seem to be an advocacy designed to achieve a defeat.

For whatever merit Milton Eisenhower may have, he has not long or actively been associated with the Republican party and few Republicans know him except as one of the Eisenhower brothers. Some have heard that he is the real brains of the Eisenhower administration, but counter-balancing, they have also heard that he has generally been associated with the New Deal. One of the best speeches I ever listened to in support of the private enterprise system was delivered by Milton Eisenhower before the Pennsylvania Manufacturers Association.

But again it is a question of the prospects of being elected and it is extremely doubtful that Milton Eisenhower can develop enough political steam between next January, when the President is expected to announce his intentions, and August when the convention will be held.

So, for practical politicians the prospects lie among Richard Nixon, the vice president, William Knowland, the senator and Tom Dewey, the perennial. They are measuring these men for size in terms of winning possibilities. There has been some talk of George Humphrey, the secretary of the treasury, but his association with big business will undoubtedly hamper him, although all admit his capacity to hold the position.

And in the back of every Republican's mind is the hope that Dwight D. Eisenhower will decide to try for a second term. It is believed now that he can win against any Democrat whose name has up to now come to the fore. There is no hope that he will speak up soon enough to help another candidate.

Foreign Affairs Of United States Not Quite As Bleak As They Look

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — This is the season when the American people give thanks for their blessings. It is also a time when there seems little to be thankful for regarding the dream held out at Geneva last July for peace with a powerful potential enemy.

John Foster Dulles has just given a report to President Eisenhower which was more blunt and more pessimistic than that which he gave to the American people that the Geneva conference was a flat failure. He told the President in unvarnished language that there seemed no hope of getting along with Russia and that the cold war was on again full force.

Simultaneously, Premier Bulganin and party boss Khrushchev are being received with wild acclaim in the Middle East; are making extravagant offers of economic aid to India, Burma and Afghanistan.

This comes on top of earlier offers to build the Aswan Dam on the Upper Nile for Egypt, on top of arms to Syria and Egypt, an invitation to King Saud of Arabia to visit Moscow, and on top of souring relations between our two good allies, Greece and Turkey; also on top of the demonstrations against us in Greece; where we have expended millions of dollars and man hours for support and friendship.

Germany and Russia

Simultaneously, U.S. Ambassador James Conant in Germany has cabled that a group of German businessmen known as the Konigstein Circle already has started confidential talks with East German Communists for a deal between Russia and Germany. In other words, with the Geneva conference failing to bring German unity, the Russians and Germans must inevitably tackle it without us — which means that Germany is sure to retire from our NATO alliance.

This, of course, is what the French have been telling us all along.

Dulles also must report to the President, if he has not already done so, that another meeting in Geneva is badly bogged down — that between the United States and Red China. U. S. representatives discussing prisoners and other problems with the Chinese Communists in Geneva have refused a Chinese request for a meeting next spring between Secretary Dulles and Premier Chou En Lai. As a result, the Chinese are about to pull out of the Geneva talks, and can be expected to begin bombarding Quemoy and Matsu shortly thereafter. This will revive the Formosa crisis, quiescent since last May.

The reason Dulles refuses to talk to Chou En Lai is quite simple. An election is upcoming in the United States. So Dulles doesn't want to lay a Republican administration open to criticism for going further than the Democrats ever did in talking to Red China.

In other words, politics has become an important rudder in guiding our foreign affairs.

Politics Guides Policy

Secretary Dulles's Republican friends, it is true, put politics smack-bang into foreign affairs during the Korean War. They kept pounding on the importance of unleashing Chiang Kai-shek's troops, and excoriated Truman for keeping Chiang, allegedly with hands tied, on Formosa.

Now, of course, the present administration is right back where Truman was and Ike actually asked Congress for a resolution authorizing him to bomb the Chinese mainland in order to protect Chiang, not unleash him.

So it's only natural for Dulles to fear that Democratic critics might turn the trick and criticize his current failures.

The injection of politics into foreign affairs incidentally, is one thing we should be most unthankful for today.

For when you consider the Geneva conference carefully, you will find its failure resulted partly from politics. It resulted from the fact that the Geneva summit meeting was built up into a great triumph when actually it was no triumph — merely a hazardous but very worthwhile start on a most difficult path to peace.

Reason it was built into such a triumph was pure politics. The Madison Avenue boys around Eisenhower saw Geneva as a great propaganda weapon to make him run again. He was, of course, reluctant even then. But they saw Geneva as a chance to sell the public on demanding the re-electing of the indispensable man.

The Eisenhower popularity poll, it will be recalled, shot way up after Geneva. He had been having trouble over Dixon-Yates, the beginning of the Harold Talbott scandal, failure to pass a school bill, a highway bill, over the bungling of Salk vaccine, and the ineptitude of Mrs. Hobby.

But suddenly these domestic problems and fumblings faded to insignificance as the Geneva summit meeting gave the Madison Avenue boys the chance to usher in a new era of Republican peace.

Ike Was OK

Actually, Ike did a good job at Geneva. That was my opinion, and I was there. But what he did was make a start toward the solution of an extremely difficult problem which could not be solved in a week, a month, or a year and which should not have been fanned up as a great victory by the political propagandists.

What they did was to take an unsuspecting and gullible public up to the Geneva summit of hope, then let us down to the valley of disappointment.

Peace doesn't come that way. And our foreign affairs, while not in good shape, are not in as bad shape as the headlines indicate.

All of this is by way of saying that I think we have more to be thankful for — or perhaps less to be unthankful for — at this Thanksgiving time than appears on the surface.

And tomorrow, if I may be permitted, I'll try to diagnose some of the things we can be thankful for — meagre though they may be — in the aftermath of Geneva.

Dulles Speech Indicates West Will Not Recede

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—The four-power conference is, in effect, still going on. The address by U. S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles—delivered on his return here Friday after it was approved and authorized by President Eisenhower—is an integral part of the current negotiations. The words spoken now could become the basis for a four-power agreement in a few months.

There is no rule in diplomacy which says negotiations must be carried on only by foreign ministers in personal conferences. In fact, a direct appeal to the public opinion of the world, usually characterized as "the propaganda battle," is in some respects more powerful than what is said in face-to-face conversations.

Every word of the Dulles speech has been examined already in Moscow and will be re-examined many times by the Soviet rulers and their experts. It will be studied to arrive at a decision as to how far the points made are likely to swing favorable opinion, not only on this side of the iron curtain but on the other side as well. The Soviet government, therefore, cannot afford to ignore the effective points made by Secretary Dulles.

Test Of Solidarity

There is, indeed, some reason to believe that the Soviet government went to the second Geneva conference under a complete misapprehension which now, fortunately, has been dispelled. The Kremlin thought the smiles at the first Geneva conference meant that the West was willing to make peace at any price and that the Western Allies would not stick together. In a sense, the second Geneva conference was a testing-out of the solidarity of the Allies and the extent to which their foreign ministers would be willing to go to get an agreement on vital issues. The key paragraph in the Dulles address was the following:

"It would have been easy to make some apparent agreements with the Soviet Union—but they would have been without real content. They would have given an illusion of a meeting of minds, where none in fact existed. The three Western powers stood steadfastly against that kind of a performance. In doing so, they showed their confidence in their own strength and in the steadfastness of their own people. Thereby, this conference may have improved the prospects for real agreements in the future."

Translating that language into political realities in the United States, this is how it might have read:

Parties Are United

"Don't be misled, Mr. Molotov. The Democrats in our country are not forcing us into a peace-at-any-price position. Neither Stevenson, nor Harriman, nor Kefauver is going to attack the Republicans and blame them for failure at Geneva. If they did, our public opinion would not support them. Our political parties are united as never before in seeking a real peace in Europe, and you are blocking it. You can't stand on that position very long, so you must come to an agreement with us."

As for Britain and France, Mr. Dulles cannot undertake to speak for them, but their foreign ministers also might have said privately the same thing—that the opposition parties in their respective countries aren't going to make political capital out of a so-called "failure" at Geneva.

Perhaps the Soviets had to try out their tactics at the second Geneva conference before really getting down to business in a third Geneva conference. So it is of transcendent importance that, in the United States, Great Britain and France, interpreters of the first and second Geneva conferences do not play into Soviet hands by trying to blame Messrs. Dulles, Macmillan and Pinay for an alleged "failure." In fact, it is a time to congratulate them for their steadfastness and for their ability to perceive the Soviet game and resist it.

There is nothing new in the points made by Mr. Dulles except the significant way in which he restates them immediately after an important conference with the Russians.

No Compromise With Evil

The world has been told now that the Western governments are willing to sit down face to face with the Soviets and talk things out. But it also has been emphasized that readiness to talk and to smile and to evince a conciliatory spirit does not mean surrender of basic principles or a compromise of any kind with evil things. There is no room for compromise as between slavery and freedom — and that's the issue for the peoples still held by force of arms by our wartime ally even though the war ended more than 10 years ago.

How many months or years can Soviet Russia prolong World War II,and keep the world from achieving peace? How long will the peoples of the countries affected be likely to remain passive? The fires of revolution are being kindled, and the discontented masses in the satellite states will be the first to fan the flames.

There are men in the councils of the Soviet government who know all this very well and fear it. Travelers returning from Russia, of course say they didn't see evidences of incipient revolution there. These are never visible, nor are uprisings advertised in advance. But the ferment underneath the surface goes on just the same and suddenly a supposedly loyal army comes to the rescue of the people, as has happened many times in other areas of the globe when tyranny and oppression have run their course.

Soviet Russia faces a dangerous choice between inaction — which means internal trouble — and making some sort of agreement with the West that will give back to the West German people their East German kinsmen under a single government and bring also some basis for the recovery of their independence by the satellite nations.

It is an inexorable cycle that lies ahead. A third Geneva conference may find the Kremlin more tractable. Certainly the Dulles speech starts a new series of moves designed to convince Moscow that the West will not recede but will insist on a truly peaceful setup in Europe before the much-talked-about "peaceful co-existence" of two different ideological systems can really begin.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Tomorrow is pretty much of a naval holiday. First Thanksgiving was a double-header. The English celebrated it September 8 and November 24 in 1588 for the shellacking of the Invincible Armada. Which lost the only battles it fought.

Massachusetts observed first American Thanksgiving in 1621 because the Mayflower got here.

Of the two chartered cruises the Mayflower was most important. Because of the stop-over privileges.

It took the Pilgrim papas only one year to carve the slugs out of their first turkey. And remove the arrow-heads from their own backs. They used 'em for place cards.

It is 367 years since the English holiday and 334 since ours. The turkey out-dates them both.

Still another craft in the Thanksgiving regatta. Don't forget the gravy-boat.

Wide Open Race

By Bob Considine

CHICAGO — (INS) — Don't let anyone kid you. The race for the Democratic nomination is as wide open as the wild blue yonder. Nobody has a lock on the bid, though there is a measure of justification in Sen. Kefauver's charge that at least the prestige of the supposedly impartial Democratic National Committee has been put behind Adlai Stevenson.

Stevenson hand-picked party chairman Paul Butler apparently without consulting Col. Jack Arvey, the veteran Illinois politician who patiently fashioned Stevenson into a national figure. Stevenson has added to his strategy staff the doughty Steve Mitchell, Butler's predecessor.

But the consensus at Chicago is that Stevenson's balloon didn't quite get the elevation expected of it this past week, though he was the first of the nominees to announce. He got the TV and radio time at the $100 a plate dinner. The others had to battle the dishes, cutlery, flying waitresses and the chronic inability of a huge banquet hall to hear what the fellow up there behind the mikes was trying to say. But the Stevenson take-off didn't "sing."

Adlai Determined

He's determined to make a go of it. It is not easy for him to "reach the people." But he knows it must be done and he'll give it the kind of try he couldn't quite bring off the last time. He's apparently attempting to cut down on the laughter his speeches instinctively evoke, to replace puns with punches. But he doesn't hold with those who have had the temerity to tell him that his language is over the head of the average voter.

I asked his brain trust the other day if the divorce might hurt him and the answer seems to be no, unless Mrs. Stevenson, a gifted woman of strong feelings about many things, including Poetry magazine, comes out against him vigorously. There is reason to believe that Stevenson's talks with their three sons, just before he and they made up his mind to declare for the nomination, dealt at least in part with Mrs. Stevenson's possible role if the former governor of Illinois wins the nomination and the election. (Harriman is divorced and remarried.)

Kefauver and Harriman are in the traditional position of delaying an announcement until the time is ripe or, dream of dreams, there is plain evidence of a draft call. Kefauver has okayed the opening of Kefauver-for-President headquarters in Washington, had a branch office in Chicago, is openly trying to sign up Mike DiSalle, one of the savviest pros in the business, as his manager, boasts that he now has more fightin' and talkin' money than ever before . . . and blandly tells the world "I'll announce on either December 15 or 16 whether or not I'll run."

No. 1 Compromise

Harriman is just as eager in all probability but will stay off the pace for a long time and let the other two beat themselves into a froth. He would seem to be the No. 1 compromise as of now, but said Sunday in Chicago that he won't enter any primary and is too busy with his work as governor at Albany. He then promptly took off for speeches in a somewhat remote part of his state—Seattle.

They were interesting to watch the other night as each in his turn bestowed ringing compliments on former President Truman. Truman gave what I thought was a magnificent demonstration of neutrality. Each got the same smile, four wrinkles around the eyes and a dimple and a half. No more, no less. He clapped for each speaker 14 times.

There is little question that all three men would agree now that a single nod of approval from Truman would make any one of them president. It must be a breath-taking state in which to live. When one comprehends the enormity of Truman's favor, if we can presume that those who court it are correct, you begin to understand why Kefauver announced with nervous pride and a spray of sweat that Truman had made up with him.

Inoculation Reduced Diphtheria To Virtual Rarity

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Most of us are immune to diphtheria, thanks to the protective inoculations we received during childhood. These injections have changed the disease from one of the 10 leading causes of death to a disorder so rare only a few cases are encountered by the average physician annually.

The victim usually develops what amounts to a super-sore throat associated with headache, fatigue, and fever ranging from 101 to 103 degrees F. The throat and tonsils are congested and swollen and, by the end of 24 hours, a group of small, yellowish spots appear over the inflamed area.

These lesions coalesce into a grayish white membrane that spreads over the back of the throat and tonsil tissues. This membrane is telltale evidence that diphtheria is present but, since other organisms are capable of duplicating the evidence, a throat culture is needed. Now and then a nose cold turns out to be diphtheria.

While the manifestations are similar to those of a head cold, the discharge is more annoying and may make the upper lip red and inflamed, if the condition goes untreated, the secretion often persists for weeks or months.

I remember a youngster of 4 whose mother was exasperated by her son's nasal problem. The lad had a discharge from the left nostril which defied all remedies. His upper lip was chafed and the affected nostril crusted all the time. The mother had to wipe the boy's nose clean every five minutes.

I sent samples of the exudate to the laboratory. Their report showed that the lad had diphtheria. Prompt cure followed the administration of diphtheria antitoxin. I had a similiar experience with a young woman who consulted me after suffering for a month from a nasal discharge. She too had diptheria and was cured within a week after receiving antitoxin.

In these particular patients the nasal diptheria was more annoying than serious because there was little absorption of toxic material from the causative organisms. The most severe type occurs when the diptheria bacilli invade the voice box (larynx). After the vocal cords swell, the windpipe may be blocked at any time; if it closes completely, the youngster will suffocate unless intubation is done.

In this procedure (tracheotomy) an incision is made in the lower neck and windpipe. A tube is inserted to allow air to reach the lungs. This type of diptheria was common at the turn of the century and most hospital victims were watched carefully lest they suffocate.

DISLODGED TISSUE

R. W. writes: What is meant by a misplaced cartilage in the knee?

REPLY

The bottom of the knee joint is lined with cartilage that acts like a cushion or shock absorber. When a piece of the cartilage is torn it is easily displaced.

VEIN DISORDERS

S. W. writes: Does phlebitis cause varicose veins?

REPLY

Varicose veins usually are associated with an inherent weakness of the walls of these blood vessels and in this respect are unrelated to phlebitis. On the other hand, when important veins in the lower extremities are obstructed as a result of phlebitis, the blood may be shunted to the smaller veins near the surface, which enlarge and look like varicosed veins.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me!

Dr. Morris Fishbein tells of a dull day in a psychiatrist's office that was considerably enlivened by the arrival of a male patient, trundling a big hat box. Out of it he suddenly produced his wife's head! On top of it was a hat bedecked wth birds and flowers. Even the psychiatrist was horrified. "This is terrible," he wailed. "It's certainly is," agreed the patient, "and that's exactly what I told her when she admitted she paid $50 for it."

There's Good News On Domestic Front

However bad the news from abroad has been in recent days, there is at least the comforting thought that the domestic news continues to be excellent.

Secretary of Commerce Weeks says the first six months of 1956 promise to be even better, economically, than 1955, which will be the best business year this country has ever enjoyed. And Budget Director Rowland R. Hughes says he now believes the budget can be balanced, both during the current fiscal year and the one ahead, without harming the defense effort.

Every time the words "balanced budget" are mentioned the phrase "tax reduction" leaps to mind like a conditioned reflex, and with good reason.

Tax rates on both business and individuals are abnormally high for peacetime. But nobody yet knows, Hughes admits, whether they can be cut without creating a deficit. Thus Congress may be left with the unhappy choice of foregoing a tax cut or continuing, in a period of high prosperity, the deficit financing which feeds inflation and gradually impairs the purchasing power of the dollar.

After a period of watchful waiting, the Federal Reserve Board has apparently decided that the danger that booming credit will overinflate the boom is still greater than the danger of recession. It has taken another discreet pull at the brake by increasing the discount rate from 2¼ to 2½ per cent at the Federal Reserve Banks.

By fixing this new rate at the highest level since 1934 the FRB has made it clear that it believes there is more risk that the boom will run away than run down. Many economic signposts seem to supoprt that conclusion.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Mr. Justice Warren

Few men in public life are more affable or better liked than Earl Warren, chief justice of the United States. He has achieved the highest distinction that can come to a lawyer in this country. When Earl Warren was appointed chief Justice, he announced that he would not leave the bench for an elective position. The position of chief justice is singular in American life and it is not a stepping stone to the presidency.

The illness of President Eisenhower effected this political change: It had been expected that he would run for a second term and that he would be elected; therefore no important Republican projected himself as a candidate for 1956. When it was thought that he could not run, many prominent Republicans began to toy with the idea that each was his suitable successor. Now that he is better, fewer are proclaiming their worthiness.

There is no evidence that Chief Justice Earl Warren has encouraged discussion of his name as a candidate. However, many New Dealers and Democrats and some Republicans have proclaimed him as the inevitable successor. It is not astonishing that those most active in his behalf have had a long reputation of projecting candidates for the Republican party up to the moment of the Republican convention. After that meeting, they support the Democrat and devote themselves to smearing the man whose nomination they so fiercely advocated. It sometimes looks like a political trick.

In the instance of Earl Warren, it sure does look like a trick because evidence from southern and border states indicates that he could not carry them because of his decision concerning the integration of races in the school system. Without discussing the merits of desegregation, the political fact is that the Republicans need a few southern states and all the border states and it now looks as though Warren could not get them.

Those who so ardently mention his name in preference to Nixon, Knowland, or any other candidate need to establish that the chief justice's opinion on desegragation will not weaken his chances of election. For this much is certain: The Republican party does not believe that it need run loose in 1956, as had to be done when it ran against Franklin D. Roosevelt. Only an accident could have defeated Roosevelt and the accident did not occur during four elections.

The Republican party expects to win whether Dwight D. Eisenhower runs or not and therefore the Republican convention will not choose a candidate who is likely to lose. This has nothing to do with a candidate's fitness or worthness. It has to do with his prospects.

The same group of non-Republicans offers Milton Eisenhower, the President's brother, as an alternative to Warren. Again, it would seem to be an advocacy designed to achieve a defeat.

For whatever merit Milton Eisenhower may have, he has not long or actively been associated with the Republican party and few Republicans know him except as one of the Eisenhower brothers. Some have heard that he is the real brains of the Eisenhower administration, but counter-balancing, they have also heard that he has generally been associated with the New Deal. One of the best speeches I ever listened to in support of the private enterprise system was delivered by Milton Eisenhower before the Pennsylvania Manufacturers Association.

But again it is a question of the prospects of being elected and it is extremely doubtful that Milton Eisenhower can develop enough political steam between next January, when the President is expected to announce his intentions, and August when the convention will be held.

So, for practical politicians the prospects lie among Richard Nixon, the vice president, William Knowland, the senator and Tom Dewey, the perennial. They are measuring these men for size in terms of winning possibilities. There has been some talk of George Humphrey, the secretary of the treasury, but his association with big business will undoubtedly hamper him, although all admit his capacity to hold the position.

And in the back of every Republican's mind is the hope that Dwight D. Eisenhower will decide to try for a second term. It is believed now that he can win against any Democrat whose name has up to now come to the fore. There is no hope that he will speak up soon enough to help another candidate.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Tomorrow is pretty much of a naval holiday. First Thanksgiving was a double-header. The English celebrated it September 8 and November 24 in 1588 for the shellacking of the Invincible Armada. Which lost the only battles it fought.

Massachusetts observed first American Thanksgiving in 1621 because the Mayflower got here.

Of the two chartered cruises the Mayflower was most important. Because of the stop-over privileges.

It took the Pilgrim papas only one year to carve the slugs out of their first turkey. And remove the arrow-heads from their own backs. They used 'em for place cards.

It is 367 years since the English holiday and 334 since ours. The turkey out-dates them both.

Still another craft in the Thanksgiving regatta. Don't forget the gravy-boat.

Wide Open Race

By Bob Considine

CHICAGO — (INS) — Don't let anyone kid you. The race for the Democratic nomination is as wide open as the wild blue yonder. Nobody has a lock on the bid, though there is a measure of justification in Sen. Kefauver's charge that at least the prestige of the supposedly impartial Democratic National Committee has been put behind Adlai Stevenson.

Stevenson hand-picked party chairman Paul Butler apparently without consulting Col. Jack Arvey, the veteran Illinois politician who patiently fashioned Stevenson into a national figure. Stevenson has added to his strategy staff the doughty Steve Mitchell, Butler's predecessor.

But the consensus at Chicago is that Stevenson's balloon didn't quite get the elevation expected of it this past week, though he was the first of the nominees to announce. He got the TV and radio time at the $100 a plate dinner. The others had to battle the dishes, cutlery, flying waitresses and the chronic inability of a huge banquet hall to hear what the fellow up there behind the mikes was trying to say. But the Stevenson take-off didn't "sing."

Adlai Determined

He's determined to make a go of it. It is not easy for him to "reach the people." But he knows it must be done and he'll give it the kind of try he couldn't quite bring off the last time. He's apparently attempting to cut down on the laughter his speeches instinctively evoke, to replace puns with punches. But he doesn't hold with those who have had the temerity to tell him that his language is over the head of the average voter.

I asked his brain trust the other day if the divorce might hurt him and the answer seems to be no, unless Mrs. Stevenson, a gifted woman of strong feelings about many things, including Poetry magazine, comes out against him vigorously. There is reason to believe that Stevenson's talks with their three sons, just before he and they made up his mind to declare for the nomination, dealt at least in part with Mrs. Stevenson's possible role if the former governor of Illinois wins the nomination and the election. (Harriman is divorced and remarried.)

Kefauver and Harriman are in the traditional position of delaying an announcement until the time is ripe or, dream of dreams, there is plain evidence of a draft call. Kefauver has okayed the opening of Kefauver-for-President headquarters in Washington, had a branch office in Chicago, is openly trying to sign up Mike DiSalle, one of the savviest pros in the business, as his manager, boasts that he now has more fightin' and talkin' money than ever before . . . and blandly tells the world "I'll announce on either December 15 or 16 whether or not I'll run."

No. 1 Compromise

Harriman is just as eager in all probability but will stay off the pace for a long time and let the other two beat themselves into a froth. He would seem to be the No. 1 compromise as of now, but said Sunday in Chicago that he won't enter any primary and is too busy with his work as governor at Albany. He then promptly took off for speeches in a somewhat remote part of his state—Seattle.

They were interesting to watch the other night as each in his turn bestowed ringing compliments on former President Truman. Truman gave what I thought was a magnificent demonstration of neutrality. Each got the same smile, four wrinkles around the eyes and a dimple and a half. No more, no less. He clapped for each speaker 14 times.

There is little question that all three men would agree now that a single nod of approval from Truman would make any one of them president. It must be a breath-taking state in which to live. When one comprehends the enormity of Truman's favor, if we can presume that those who court it are correct, you begin to understand why Kefauver announced with nervous pride and a spray of sweat that Truman had made up with him.

Inoculation Reduced Diphtheria To Virtual Rarity

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Deilen

Most of us are immune to diphtheria, thanks to the protective inoculations we received during childhood. These injections have changed the disease from one of the 10 leading causes of death to a disorder so rare only a few cases are encountered by the average physician annually.

The victim usually develops what amounts to a super-sore throat associated with headache, fatigue, and fever ranging from 101 to 103 degrees F. The throat and tonsils are congested and swollen and, by the end of 24 hours, a group of small, yellowish spots appear over the inflamed area.

These lesions coalesce into a grayish white membrane that spreads over the back of the throat and tonsil tissues. This membrane is telltale evidence that diphtheria is present but, since other organisms are capable of duplicating the evidence, a throat culture is needed. Now and then a nose cold turns out to be diphtheria.

While the manifestations are similar to those of a head cold, the discharge is more annoying and may make the upper lip red and inflamed, if the condition goes untreated, the secretion often persists for weeks or months.

I remember a youngster of 4 whose mother was exasperated by her son's nasal problem. The lad had a discharge from the left nostril which defied all remedies. His upper lip was chafed and the affected nostril crusted all the time. The mother had to wipe the boy's nose clean every five minutes.

I sent samples of the exudate to the laboratory. Their report showed that the lad had diphtheria. Prompt cure followed the administration of diphtheria antitoxin. I had a similiar experience with a young woman who consulted me after suffering for a month from a nasal discharge. She too had diptheria and was cured within a week after receiving antitoxin.

In these particular patients the nasal diptheria was more annoying than serious because there was little absorption of toxic material from the causative organisms. The most severe type occurs when the diptheria bacilli invade the voice box (larynx). After the vocal cords swell, the windpipe may be blocked at any time; if it closes completely, the youngster will suffocate unless intubation is done.

In this procedure (tracheotomy) an incision is made in the lower neck and windpipe. A tube is inserted to allow air to reach the lungs. This type of diptheria was common at the turn of the century and most hospital victims were watched carefully lest they suffocate.

DISLODGED TISSUE

R. W. writes: What is meant by a misplaced cartilage in the knee?

REPLY

The bottom of the knee joint is lined with cartilage that acts like a cushion or shock absorber. When a piece of the cartilage is torn it is easily displaced.

VEIN DISORDERS

S. W. writes: Does phlebitis cause varicose veins?

REPLY

Varicose veins usually are associated with an inherent weakness of the walls of these blood vessels and in this respect are unrelated to phlebitis. On the other hand, when important veins in the lower extremities are obstructed as a result of phlebitis, the blood may be shunted to the smaller veins near the surface, which enlarge and look like varicosed veins.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Deilen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me!

By Bennett Cerf

Dr. Morris Fishbein tells of a dull day in a psychiatrist's office that was considerably enlivened by the arrival of a male patient, trundling a big hat box. Out of it he suddenly produced his wife's head! On top of it was a hat bedecked wth birds and flowers. Even the psychiatrist was horrified. "This is terrible," he wailed. "It's certainly is," agreed the patient, "and that's exactly what I told her when she admitted she paid $50 for it."

Piedmont Views Garbage Land Fill Proposal

PIEDMONT — William Waller, Keyser, a state health officer, suggested that the City of Piedmont cooperate with the City of Keyser in a land fill garbage plan at the meeting of Mayor Rodney Baker and the Council.

Keyser now has a plan in operation and the community purchased a bulldozer.

There is a parcel of land near the present dump used by Piedmont, about half-way between here and Keyser, that will probably be up for sale in the near future. Disposing of garbage by the land fill eliminates rats and other unsanitary conditions which garbage attracts.

Waller was requested to contact the Keyser City officials relative to cost and other necessary information so the matter could be discussed by the two communities.

City Clerk Ormond Ledlow stated that $1,954.18 has already been spent in dredging the Potomac River to curb high water damage.

The dredging is expected to be completed this week but Mayor Baker stated they are also considering necessary repairs to the flood wall at the lower end of Water Street.

Mayor Baker stated he had received much praise for the cleaning of the street after the recent snow. The streets are cleaned by washing the ashes off of them, and this plan will be continued whenever possible.

The proposal of Harry Reeves, offering to give the town a Christmas tree free of charge, was discussed. Cost of taking a tree and replanting it would be too costly but it was decided to ask Reeves if he could cut the tree down and put it on the Piedmont parking lot for Christmas time.

Former Resident Frostburg Paints Largest Flags

FROSTBURG — Charles Ingle, commercial artist of Richmond, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Engle, 35 Stoyer Street, Frostburg, recently completed painting the Virginia seal on two of the largest Virginia state flags ever made. The flags will be flown over Thelhimers Store in Richmond with two American flags. All four banners will measure 12 feet by 22.8 feet, according to flagmaker, H. I. Sheritt.

For Ingle, the big state flag meant long hours of painting. The flags were too large to permit the use of a screen process and too many colors, 13, were required, so that the state seal could not be sewn on the flags' dark-blue fields.

Instead, Ingle made a perforated paper pattern of the seal, laid it over the white nylon and dusted powdered charcoal over the pattern. The charcoal sifted through the perforations, giving Ingle an outline on the nylon for his paints.

Piedmont Views Garbage Land Fill Proposal

PIEDMONT — William Waller Keyser, a state health officer, suggested that the City of Piedmont cooperate with the City of Keyser in a land fill garbage plan at the meeting of Mayor Rodney Baker and the Council.

Keyser now has a plan in operation and the community purchased a bulldozer.

There is a parcel of land near the present dump used by Piedmont, about half-way between here and Keyser, that will probably be up for sale in the near future. Disposing of garbage by the land fill eliminates rats and other unsanitary conditions which garbage attracts.

Waller was requested to contact the Keyser City officials relative to cost and other necessary information so the matter could be discussed by the two communities.

City Clerk Ormond Ledlow stated that $1,954.18 has already been spent in dredging the Potomac River to curb high water damage.

The dredging is expected to be completed this week but Mayor Baker stated they are also considering necessary repairs to the flood wall at the lower end of Water Street.

Mayor Baker stated he had received much praise for the cleaning of the street after the recent snow. The streets are cleaned by washing the ashes off of them, and this plan will be continued whenever possible.

The proposal of Harry Reeves, offering to give the town a Christmas tree free of charge, was discussed. Cost of taking a tree and replanting it would be too costly but it was decided to ask Reeves if he could cut the tree down and put it on the Piedmont parking lot for Christmas time.

Former Resident Frostburg Paints Largest Flags

FROSTBURG — Charles Ingle, commercial artist of Richmond, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Engle, 35 Stoyer Street, Frostburg, recently completed painting the Virginia seal on two of the largest Virginia state flags ever made. The flags will be flown over Thelhimers Store in Richmond with two American flags. All four banners will measure 12 feet by 22.8 feet, according to flagmaker, H. I. Sherritt.

For Ingle, the big state flag meant long hours of painting. The flags were too large to permit the use of a screen process and too many colors, 13, were required, so that the state seal could not be sewn on the flags' dark-blue fields.

Sparkling Recovery Drive Is Put On By Stock Market

NEW YORK, Nov. 22 (AP) — The stock market turned in a sparkling recovery drive today that gained strength as it rolled ahead.

There was some feeling in Wall Street that the Federal Reserve "didn't mean us" when money rates were raised to curb the excessive use of credit.

Gains today ran to 1 to 3 points in most major areas and some gains topped that. Losses usually were small.

Railroads had a featured role in the advance, and they had ample support from the steels and motors as well as from rubbers, mail orders, aircrafts, coppers, oils, chemicals, and a long list of miscellaneous issues.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up $1.90 at $179.30, a strong showing. Last Wednesday the average was within $1.20 of the record high of $181.50 reached Sept. 23 just before the big break on news of the President's heart attack.

Many in Wall Street think the traditional year end rally will start —if at all—around Thanksgiving this year.

The industrial component of the average today gained $2.50 and the rails were up $2.30 with utilities ahead 30 cents. Percentagewise, the rails made by far the best showing.

There were 1,177 individual issues traded of which 637 advanced and 295 declined with 37 new highs and 8 fell back to new lows.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 22 (INS) — Jane Powell, who steadfastly held out for the right to take outside pictures, has signed a new deal with MGM. She's one of the few girls who now can eat her cake and have it, too.

Jane will make three pictures a year for the Culver City studio, with the right to do outside pictures. TV, concerts and recording engagements.

Jane always has been a very important factor on the MGM lot, making such pictures as "Seven Brides for Seven Brothers," "Royal Wedding," etc.

There will be no work for Janie until after the birth of her baby in mid-March.

Sometimes when you least expect it you hear news. I heard Buddy Adler whisper that he would like to get Gordon MacRae for "The Day the Century Ended." In fact, the top role was offered to Gordon, but Gordon leaves Nov. 29 for England where he and Sheila have a brief holiday.

Then before Christmas he goes to Miami to keep a singing engagement at the Fountainbleau Hotel.

Sheila and Gordon will have the four children with them for the holidays.

Since Gordon proved that he is a fine actor as well as a singer in "Oklahoma!" he has had any number of picture offers for straight dramatic roles.

Chatter in Hollywood:

There is just one girl in the life of Fess Parker (Davy Crockett to you), and she is Marcie Reinhardt. But shy "Davy" hasn't asked her to marry him, and one reason, I think, is because his mother and father have been here taking care of his new Benedict Canyon home.

Everyone thought when Fess bought his house that Marcie would go there as his bride, but when the going got too tough for him to run the house he sent for his Ma and Pa from Brownwood, Tex., to get the place in order, and they've been here ever since.

20th Century-Fox is modest in its claim that the new 55mm Cinemascope film is a 50 per cent improvement over previous film. I would say it is at least 75 per cent improvement in depth, clarity and over all brilliance.

Both "Carousel" and "The King and I" are being filmed in the new 55mm process which is then reduced to 35mm for showing on the present Cinemascope screen. Darryl Zanuck said that using this 55mm film is adding a cost of $200,000 for each picture.

Sparkling Recovery Drive Is Put On By Stock Market

NEW YORK, Nov. 22 (AP) — The stock market turned in a sparkling recovery drive today that gained strength as it rolled ahead.

There was some feeling in Wall Street that the Federal Reserve "didn't mean us" when money rates were raised to curb the excessive use of credit.

Gains today ran to 1 to 3 points in most major areas and some gains topped that. Losses usually were small.

Railroads had a featured role in the advance, and they had ample support from the steels and motors as well as from rubbers, mail orders, aircrafts, coppers, oils, chemicals, and a long list of miscellaneous issues.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up $1.90 at $179.30, a strong showing. Last Wednesday the average was within $1.20 of the record high of $181.50 reached Sept. 23 just before the big break on news of the President's heart attack.

Many in Wall Street think the traditional year end rally will start —if at all—around Thanksgiving this year.

The industrial component of the average today gained $2.50 and the rails were up $2.30 with utilities ahead 30 cents. Percentagewise, the rails made by far the best showing.

There were 1,177 individual issues traded of which 637 advanced and 295 declined with 37 new highs and 8 fell back to new lows.

Pitt's Sugar Bowl Opponent Will Be Named Saturday

Grier, Negro Fullback, May Play In Game

Pitt Stands To Be Unsegregated; SEC Team Will Get Bid

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 22 (AP)—Pittsburgh's independent golden Panthers will meet a yet unnamed Southeastern Conference team in the Sugar Bowl football game here Jan. 2.

The New Orleans Mid-Winter Sports Assn., sponsor of the bowl, announced Pitt's selection today, and said the Panthers' opponent will be named after Saturday's "traditional" SEC games.

Uppermost in the minds of association officials are Auburn, Georgia Tech, Mississippi and Vanderbilt, but not necessarily in that order.

Fred Digby, general manager of the Sugar Bowl committee, said the invitation to Pitt was made "without conditions."

Negro Will Play

That means if Bob Grier, Pitt's substitute fullback is sent into the game by Coach Johnny Michelson, he will be the first Negro to play in the Sugar Bowl.

Digby said Pitt may play Grier and may sell tickets to Negroes if it wants to. Athletic Director Tom Hamilton of Pitt told him no trouble was anticipated because of the arrangements, Digby said.

Although Grier may play in the game and the Pitt stands will be unsegregated, Digby said, the rest of the Sugar Bowl will follow the traditional segregation policy of the South.

Won 1937 Bowl Game

Pittsburgh last appeared in a bowl game in 1937 when it defeated Washington 21-0 in the Rose Bowl.

Pitt, with a 7-3 season record, is ranked No. 13 in the nation by this week's Associated Press poll. Its defeats have been at the hands of top-ranking teams.

The Panthers closed their season last Saturday with a convincing 20-0 victory over Penn State. Pitt's conquerors include Oklahoma, No. 1 team in the nation, Navy, No. 11, and Miami of Florida, No. 14.

Pitt's victims were California, Syracuse, Nebraska, Duke, Virginia, West Virginia and Penn State.

The 26-7 victory over Duke came a week after the Blue Devils upset Ohio State, the Big Ten champions. Pitt's 26-7 victory over West Virginia knocked that team out of the Sugar Bowl picture.

Mississippi Leads

Pitt's opponent in the Sugar Bowl does not have to be the Southeastern Conference champion. The Sugar Bowl has no tieup with the conference, but usually picks what it considers the best SEC team.

Mississippi currently leads the SEC with only one loss. Georgia Tech and Auburn each have a loss and a tie, while Vanderbilt has two defeats.

SUGAR BOWL FOR PANTHERS — Members of Pitt's football team and two of the school's cheerleaders give out with a rousing "hurrah" on learning before classes yesterday that the Panthers have accepted an invitation to play in the Sugar Bowl at New Orleans, La., January 2, 1956. Pitt's last appearance in a bowl game was in 1937 when the Panthers routed Washington, 21-0. The Panthers' opponent in the Sugar Bowl will be either Georgia Tech, Auburn, Vanderbilt or Mississippi. Rutgers To Hire New Grid Coach

Harmon Is Released, Served 14 Seasons

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Nov. 22 (INS) — Rutgers University "fired" veteran football Coach Harvey Harmon today and assigned him "duties other than coaching."

Rutgers President Dr. Lewis Webster Jones said the university will begin immediately to seek a successor to Harmon, who coached the school eleven for the past 14 seasons.

Harmon, 55, holds the rank of professor of physical education at Rutgers. His teams had an over-all record of 75 wins, 44 defeats and two ties.

In recent years his teams have sported losing marks and last Saturday closed out its 1955 season with a 3-5 record.

Boland Better Grow

HANOVER, N. H. (AP)—Although Cornell lost to Dartmouth, 7-0, the losers' coach, Lefty James, regards the play of Art Boland, his 155-pound halfback from Lynn, Mass., "the finest defensive performance by a Cornell back this season." Boland intercepted a pass in the end zone and made tackles all over the field. Before the game a gatekeeper denied him permission to the field. But later he was identified.

FRED "CHICK" WEIHL and Newton Anderson will be officiating in a Thanksgiving Day game here for the tenth consecutive year when Allegany and Fort Hill tangle tomorrow at the stadium.

Weihl is principal of Weston (W. Va.) High and also is treasurer of the West Virginia High School Athletic Association. Newt Anderson is principal of Buckhannon-Upshur (W. Va.) High School.

Noah Anderson will be officiating here for the fourth time while it will be Arthur Goldschien's third straight holiday game at the stadium.

The first Turkey Day game between Fort Hill and Allegany was staged at Community Park in 1936 and the officials were Arthur G. Ramey, John McDonald and "Eck" Miers.

Dr. Lloyd Jones officiated in five AHS-Fort Hill games, 1938-1942, and Eddie Cubbon, of California (Pa.) State Teachers College worked in four of the contests, 1939-1942. Art Ward, Dr. Dick Goldberg, Bruce Fisher and Lou Wojcihovski were here for three games each.

IN THE 27-year history of Turkey Day games here only one was postponed on account of bad weather.

A heavy snow and sub-freezing temperatures caused postponement of the 1938 game and it was played five days later on a Tuesday. The battle was staged at night in the slush and mud before approximately 3,500 persons and was won by Allegany 14-0.

Jim Gaffney, who will be officiating in the LaSalle-Beall game at Frostburg tomorrow, scored both of the Camper touchdowns while the conversions were made by Paul Kemp and Jim Sullivan.

Gaffney, incidentally, also grabbed the spotlight in the 1937 game, first played at the stadium, when his pass to Kemp netted the lone touchdown and won the game, 6-2.

AN ALLEGANY victory tomorrow would give the Campers their first undefeated and untied team since the days of Herman Ball whose 1941 and 1942 elevens posted 9-0 records.

Fort Hill won nine and lost nine in 1950.

Allegany now has a 7-0 record but that last game could prove a tough one to bag.

Both Fort Hill and Allegany were 9-0 going into the 1948 finale which ended in a tie. In 1949, AHS was 9-0 and dropped the last game to the Sentinels.

Mel Henry found the last game was a Jonah, too, when he coached at Fort Hill. In 1943 and 1944 his teams had 7-0 and 8-0 records then blew both Turkey games to Allegany. In fact, if it wasn't for Allegany Henry's three teams would have gone undefeated and untied. His record at Fort Hill was 22-3-1 and the three losses and one tie came in games with Campobello teams.

VICTOR D. HEISEY, principal of Fort Hill High School, presents some interesting attendance figures on Thanksgiving Day grid battles, starting with the 1944 season.

The "big year" was 1948 when the paid attendance was 9,792. In 1953 a total of 8,498 paying patrons witnessed the game in Greenway Bowl while last year's turnout, 5,889, was the smallest in 10 years.

Tickets for all of the 5,800 seats at the stadium have been sold and general admission pasteboards—$1 for adults and 50 cents for students—will be sold until after game time, which is 1:30 this year.

Here are the attendance figures for the past 11 years: 1944—4,595. 1945 — 5,954. 1946—7,572. 1947 — 6,574. 1948—9,792. 1949—8,971. 1950—8,006. 1951—7,218. 1952 — 7,372. 1953—8,498. 1954—5,889.

MRS. MARY E. STAPLETON, 63, of Hyattsville, who died last week in Prince George Hospital, Cheverly, Md., was the mother of Ned Stapleton, former LaSalle High School basketball star.

Ned was a guard on Pat Conway's last team at LaSalle during the 1941-42 season. The Explorers were as hot as firecrackers that season, winning 21 and losing one. They were undefeated in the scholastic ranks and dropped their only game to the Alumni.

Other members of the squad were George Geatz, now coach at LaSalle; Bobby Stakem, Ray Schmutz, Bill "Shad" Hunt, Johnny Small and Tommy Ford.

Ned's dad, Leo Stapleton, was a well known local barber and was employed at Earl Long's shop on Frederick Street for many years. He is still in the barber business at Hyattsville.

The Stapletons once resided at 314 Columbia Street where Ned learned his basketball shooting at a hoop in the back yard.

COACH HAROLD KOPP'S University of Rhode Island gridders, undefeated Yankee Conference champions, have accepted an invitation to play Jackson (Ala.) State in the Refrigerator Bowl game December 4 at Evansville, Indiana.

It's a benefit affair sponsored by the Evansville Jaycees with proceeds going to the crippled children.

Kopp, former Western Maryland College grid star, will be remembered as a baseball catcher for Allegany county sandlot nines. He married Hazel Cooling, daughter of Gilbert Cooling, who served as principal of Barton High School for many years before retiring and moving to the Eastern Shore.

The Rhode Island Rams opened their season by tying Northeastern University and then ran through the remainder of their schedule without difficulty.

DAVIS AND ELKINS College may have something in basketball this season if the power the Senators displayed in their lid-lifter means anything.

D. & E. invaded Virginia the other night and whipped the Rockingham Colonels at Broadway by the score of 101-96.

Paul Wilcox, D. & E.'s 6-foot-5 center, dumped in 35 points on 14 field goals and seven free throws. "Skippy" Hill hit for 19 fielders and 42 points for the home team.

REQUEST of basketball officials for more money for high school games was rejected the other day at a meeting of the Monongahela Valley Athletic Association, of which Parsons High School is a member.

Because many of the older officials have ceased working, a committee was named to study the situation. Bob Sullivan, Parsons coach; Newt Anderson, of Buckhannon, and Homer Fizer, of University High, Morgantown, are on the committee.

An increase of approximately $1.50 per official a game was asked.

The association voted to retain the scale used last year which gives the official $7.50 for Class B games and $11.50 for Class A and AA. Officials are reimbursed for travel at the rate of seven cents a mile both to and from the site of the game. The scale originally was adopted in March, 1952.

There are more than 70,000 Navajo Indians in the United States compared to 7,000 in 1867.

Vince Martinez Favored To Win

Fights Christensen In St. Louis Tonight

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 22 (AP) — Vince Martinez hopes to move a step closer to a shot at the welterweight title with a victory tomorrow night over Denmark's Chris Christensen.

Martinez, of Paterson, N. J., is favored in the nationally televised (ABC) 10-round fight (10 p.m. EST).

Christensen isn't noted as a hard puncher and depends largely on getting across a large number of blows.

A victory would reestablish him as a ranking fighter. He has lost two or three bouts on his current tour of this country. His one recent triumph was a six-round TKO against Gene Poirer.

The Dane has an overall record of 27 victories in 36 fights, nine of them by knockouts. Martinez has 21 successful decisions and 23 knockouts to his credit in 47 bouts.

Vince Martinez Favored To Win

Fights Christensen In St. Louis Tonight

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 22 (AP) — Vince Martinez hopes to move a step closer to a shot at the welterweight title with a victory tomorrow night over Denmark's Chris Christensen.

Martinez, of Paterson, N. J., is favored in the nationally televised (ABC) 10-round fight (10 p.m. EST).

Christensen isn't noted as a hard puncher and depends largely on getting across a large number of blows.

A victory would reestablish him as a ranking fighter. He has lost two or three bouts on his current tour of this country. His one recent triumph was a six-round TKO against Gene Poirer.

The Dane has an overall record of 27 victories in 36 fights, nine of them by knockouts. Martinez has 21 successful decisions and 23 knockouts to his credit in 47 bouts.

Rutgers To Hire New Grid Coach

Harmon Is Released, Served 14 Seasons

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Nov. 22 (INS) — Rutgers University "fired" veteran football Coach Harvey Harmon today and assigned him "duties other than coaching."

Rutgers President Dr. Lewis Webster Jones said the university will begin immediately to seek a successor to Harmon, who coached the school eleven for the past 14 seasons.

Harmon, 55, holds the rank of professor of physical education at Rutgers. His teams had an over-all record of 75 wins, 44 defeats and two ties.

In recent years his teams have sported losing marks and last Saturday closed out its 1955 season with a 3-5 record.

Boland Better Grow

HANOVER, N. H. (AP)—Although Cornell lost to Dartmouth, 7-0, the losers' coach, Lefty James, regards the play of Art Boland, his 155-pound halfback from Lynn, Mass., "the finest defensive performance by a Cornell back this season." Boland intercepted a pass in the end zone and made tackles all over the field. Before the game a gatekeeper denied him permission to the field. But later he was identified.

Cadets Picked To Defeat Navy Saturday

Army At Full Strength For 56th Contest

Oklahoma, Ole Miss, Vanderbilt, Notre Dame Are Favored

By WILL GRIMSLEY

WEST POINT, N. Y., Nov. 22 (AP)—Balky mule or bearded goat—that's the big choice to make this week.

It's the 56th Army-Navy football game at Philadelphia, the sport's premier spectacle.

Navy's Coach Eddie Erdelatz has lost only once to Army since 1950. The midshipmen have the superior season's record 6-1-1 to Army's 5-3. The odds are with Navy but, with 26-10 last week and a season's average of .725, out goes the neck again—

Army 21, Navy 14: Coach Red Blaik has the Cadets at near full strength for the first time this year. Quarterback Don Holleder finally has hit his stride. Army's defense, No. 1 nationally, should contain George Welsh & Co.

Texas A & M, Texas 13 Thursday): Bear Bryant's Aggies clinch "Comeback of the Year" honors.

Oklahoma 34, Oklahoma A&M 0: Tommy McDonald and his mates ring up No. 29 in a row for the country's top-ranked eleven.

Vanderbilt Picked

Vanderbilt 20, Tennessee 14: one of the South's bitterest rivalries. Vandy, with an outside bowl chance, should win with Charlie Horton.

Notre Dame 28, Southern California 21: Southern Cal had a bad break on Jon Arnett's nullified 97-yard run last week against UCLA. It's hard to forget such a sting.

Georgia Tech 14, Georgia 12: Georgia, coming fast, would like nothing better than to knock Tech out of a bowl.

Mississippi 20, Mississippi State 7: Anything can happen but we have to string with Ole Miss.

Louisiana State 26, Tulane 13: The "new look" Tigers frightened Maryland, then beat Mississippi State and Arkansas.

Texas Christian Favored

Texas Christian 20, Southern Methodist 7: Jim Swink will try to seal season's individual scoring honors.

The others:

Pitt's Present Mentor Starred In '37 Victory

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 22 (AP) — Students at the University of Pittsburgh today received the news of the Panthers' selection to the Sugar Bowl Jan. 2 with loud hurrahs and cheers—but that's all.

There was no cutting of classes. No celebration was planned. "We have got to win the game, then we'll have a celebration," commented Theodore Biddle, dean of men.

But Bob Pollock, the Panthers' junior tackle from Mt. Carmel, Pa., received the news with this terse comment: "It is like getting new blood in my veins."

This is Pitt's first trip to a bowl since 1937. That year the Panthers, led by quarterback Johnny Michelson, Pitt's current coach, crushed Washington 21-0 in the Rose Bowl.

The selection to the Sugar Bowl was a well-kept secret from the student body who learned of it shortly before classes opened. By that time Michelosen and Pitt's Athletic Director Tom Hamilton were winging their way to New Orleans to sign the contract.

The Panthers loomed as contenders for a bowl bid after their decisive 26-7 victory over West Virginia. Ironically, Sugar Bowl officials took a trip north to report on the Mountaineers and instead wound up singing the praises of Pitt.

Buckeyes To Play

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Nov. 22 (AP) — Ohio State Coach Woody Hayes says his All-America halfback, Howard (Hopalong) Cassady, and center Ken Vargo and tackle Francis Machinsky will play for the East in the East-West football game at San Francisco, Dec. 31. Hayes will coach the East team.

Bobby Moss Seems Certain To Capture Rushing Title

Wyant's Lead Slim For Total Offense

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 22 (AP)—West Virginia's Bobby Moss, who seems certain to win the Southern Conference rushing title, figures to go down in the books as the league's top runner since Ed (Mighty Mo) Modzelewski was blasting lines for Maryland a few years ago.

Moss, with one game left against N.C. State, has gained 722 yards on surface smashes, tying Bill Bowman, the former William and Mary ace, for the best rushing mark since the Southern-Atlantic Coast Conference split.

It'll take a mighty offensive surge by the West Virginia halfback to surpass Modzelewski's total of 834 yards rushing, the best since the league began compiling statistics in 1941. Moss, however, is rolling at a better clip than Mighty Mo, who averaged 7.4 yards on his 113 carries. Moss has carried the ball only 82 times so far and has a brilliant 8.8 average, which ranks him among the nation's best.

While Moss seems certain to win the rushing laurels, his West Virginia teammate, Freddy Wyant, may see his total offense bid fail. Wyant was sidelined last week with an injury, but his 759 yards withstood the challenge from Davidson's Dick Belton, who concluded his season only 16 yards shy of Wyant's league-leading figure.

Wyant's chief opposition now appears to be Moss and Furman's Jimmy Boyle, each only 37 yards back. If Wyant isn't able to play Friday against N.C. State it's likely he'll miss repeating as the SC's total offense leader.

Belton and his chief target, Bill Gramley, apparently are cinches to rank No. 1 in passing and pass receiving when the final statistics come out next week. Virginia Tech's Bobby Wolfenden continues as the circuit's most effective punter.

Holovak, whose original five-year pact was due to expire at the close of the season, reportedly received a salary boost which will give him approximately $10,000 a year.

Pitt's Win Over Duke Stands Out

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 22 (INS)—The New Orleans States brought up the possibility today that the Sugar Bowl may have outsmarted the Rose Bowl this year. The States said in a front-page box:

"Michigan State's going to the Rose Bowl.

"And Michigan beat Michigan State, 14 to 7, didn't they?

"Ohio State beat Michigan, 17 to 0.

"Duke beat Ohio State, 26 to 14.

"And Pittsburgh beat Duke, 26 to 7."

Maryland Gets 12,128 Tickets For Bowl Tilt

Distribution Policy Announced By Elkins

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Nov. 22 (AP)—Students, faculty members and close supporters of the University of Maryland athletic program, including Terrapin Club members and season ticket holders, will receive first call on Orange Bowl tickets, it was announced today.

The policy for distribution of the 10,529 tickets to the Maryland-Oklahoma game Jan. 2 in Miami was announced by Dr. Wilson H. Elkins after a meeting with the athletic council. Maryland receives 12,128 tickets, or like Oklahoma, one-sixth of the stadium capacity. Of the Terps allotment, 200 go to each member of the Atlantic Coast Conference.

The 7,500 undergraduate students will have the opportunity to purchase one ticket each, but only if they are going to attend the game.

Ticket orders will be accepted immediately and must be in by Dec. 10. Tickets will not be distributed before Dec. 20. Tickets are $6.25 each, plus $1.00 for mailing and handling each order. The address is Ticket Office, Box 295, University of Maryland, College Park, Maryland.

Andrews Defeats Jimmy Martinez

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Nov. 22 (AP)—Al Andrews, 163, of St. Paul, Minn., punched out a unanimous 10-round decision over Jimmy Martinez, 160¾, of Phoenix, Ariz., in a fast bout tonight.

A crowd of 2,405 paid a gross gate of $5,250 to see Andrews launch an attack in the opening round and stay on top to win easily.

Twice during the fight Andrews nailed Martinez with rights and had him on the verge of a knockout. He staggered Martinez in the fifth and seventh rounds with chopping rights.

Both swung freely throughout the fight but Andrews had too much steam and was in splendid physical condition. Martinez' nose bled from the first round.

Luppino Leads Major College Ground Gainers

Swink, Welsh Trail Star From Arizona

[By The Associated Press]

Arizona's Art Luppino, whose of playing football is just to grab the ball and run, already has set one major college ground gaining record this year. If he can stay in front of Navy's George Welsh and Jim Swink of Texas Christian for one more Saturday, he'll add these:

1. The first player to gain more ground by rushing than any other can gain by rushing and passing.

2. The first player to lead the nation's running backs for two consecutive seasons.

3. Arizona will be the first college to produce two different total offense champions.

Gallops 139 Yards

When Luppino galloped for 139 yards against New Mexico last Saturday he brought his total yardage for nine games to 1,245—all on the ground. That not only gave him the total offense lead, but it made him the top all-time major college rusher for a two-season plan.

As a sophomore in 1954, Luppino rushed 1,369 yards. His two-year total, with one game to go against Arizona State at Tempe, stands at 2,614, surpassing the service-interrupted two-season mark of 2,543 yards set by Rudy Mobley of Hardin-Simmons in 1942 and 1946.

Enke Won In 1947

Arizona's previous total offense champ was Fred Enke in 1947. Two individuals have won the title twice, Bob Fenimore of Oklahoma A. and M., 1944-45, and Johnny Bright of Drake, 1949-50.

Challenging the Arizona antelope are Welsh, who has gained all but 20 of his 1,163 yards by throwing passes, and Swink, another runner, with 1,152 yards on the ground.

In addition to threatening Luppino's total yardage lead, Welsh also stands an outside chance of capturing the passing title. Columbia's Claude Benham and Purdue's Len Dawson wound up with 89 and 87 completions, respectively. Welsh, with the top completion percentage (.623) and the top yardage (1,143) has hit on 76 of his 122 tosses. He needs 14 more against Army to top Benham.

Tatum Says Winner Must Score At Least Three Touchdowns

MIAMI, Fla., Nov. 22—(INS)—Coach Jim Tatum predicted today that the Jan. 2 Orange Bowl game between his undefeated Maryland team and unbeaten Oklahoma will not be the same defensive struggle as it was when the two teams last met in the annual classic.

Tatum, arriving in Miami to make preliminary arrangements for his team, said "the team that wins this one will have to score at least three touchdowns."

Carl E. Stotz Loses Little League Post

Commissioner Files Suit For $300,000

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., Nov. 22 (AP)—Little League Baseball Inc., today relieved Carl E. Stotz as commissioner of the nationwide organization aimed at promoting baseball for boys.

Peter J. McGovern, president of the corporation, took the action after Stotz filed an attachment petition in the Lycoming County Court preliminary to a $300,000 suit for breach of contract against Little League.

The corporation posted a $130,000 bond and regained access to its offices, which were padlocked yesterday after Stotz petition was filed. The padlock was removed after the bond was filed.

McGovern named John M. Lindemuth acting commissioner "with all the authority and duties heretofore reserved for Carl Stotz."

Lindemuth, who has been with Little League since 1940, has been assistant under Stotz.

McGovern said the normal activities of Little League headquarters would continue during the litigation. He added that the case would not affect local Little League franchises.

Stotz, who remains under contract with Little League, contended that he and volunteer field personnel "no longer have a representative voice in Little League policy decisions."

Stotz will continue to serve as a member of the board of directors of Little League. Stotz founded the Little League in Williamsport in 1939 to promote organized baseball among boys 12 and under. There are now 3,977 franchised clubs in the United States and some foreign countries.

An estimated 250,000 youngsters take part in the league season every summer, climaxed by the annual Little League World Series at Williamsport.

Held May Make It

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Mel Held, 29-year-old pitcher who had a trial with the Baltimore Orioles last spring, may make it next year. The 6 foot 1 hurler from Edon, Ohio had a 24-7 record at San Antonio last season. He completed 19 of 30 starts.

Pitt's Present Mentor Starred In '37 Victory

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 22 (AP)—Students at the University of Pittsburgh today received the news of the Panthers' selection to the Sugar Bowl Jan. 2 with loud hurrahs and cheers—but that's all.

There was no cutting of classes. No celebration was planned. "We have got to win the game, then we'll have a celebration," commented Theodore Biddle, dean of men.

But Bob Pollock, the Panthers' junior tackle from Mt. Carmel, Pa., received the news with this terse comment: "It is like getting new blood in my veins."

This is Pitt's first trip to a bowl since 1937. That year the Panthers, led by quarterback Johnny Michelson, Pitt's current coach, crushed Washington 21-0 in the Rose Bowl.

The selection to the Sugar Bowl was a well-kept secret from the student body who learned of it shortly before classes opened. By that time Michelosen and Pitt's Athletic Director Tom Hamilton were winging their way to New Orleans to sign the contract.

The Panthers loomed as contenders for a bowl bid after their decisive 26-7 victory over West Virginia. Ironically, Sugar Bowl officials took a trip north to report on the Mountaineers and instead wound up singing the praises of Pitt.

Bobby Moss Seems Certain To Capture Rushing Title

Wyant's Lead Slim For Total Offense

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 22 (AP)—West Virginia's Bobby Moss, who seems certain to win the Southern Conference rushing title, figures to go down in the books as the league's top runner since Ed (Mighty Mo) Modzelewski was blasting lines for Maryland a few years ago.

Moss, with one game left against N.C. State, has gained 722 yards on surface smashes, tying Bill Bowman, the former William and Mary ace, for the best rushing mark since the Southern-Atlantic Coast Conference split.

It'll take a mighty offensive surge by the West Virginia halfback to surpass Modzelewski's total of 834 yards rushing, the best since the league began compiling statistics in 1941. Moss, however, is rolling at a better clip than Mighty Mo, who averaged 7.4 yards on his 113 carries. Moss has carried the ball only 82 times so far and has a brilliant 8.8 average, which ranks him among the nation's best.

While Moss seems certain to win the rushing laurels, his West Virginia teammate, Freddy Wyant, may see his total offense bid fail. Wyant was sidelined last week with an injury, but his 759 yards withstood the challenge from Davidson's Dick Belton, who concluded his season only 16 yards shy of Wyant's league-leading figure.

Wyant's chief opposition now appears to be Moss and Furman's Jimmy Boyle, each only 37 yards back. If Wyant isn't able to play Friday against N.C. State it's likely he'll miss repeating as the SC's total offense leader.

Belton and his chief target, Bill Gramley, apparently are cinches to rank No. 1 in passing and pass receiving when the final statistics come out next week. Virginia Tech's Bobby Wolfenden continues as the circuit's most effective punter.

NEWTON, Mass., Nov. 22 (AP)—Mike Holovak, head football coach at Boston College since 1951, today signed a four-year contract to continue in the job.

Holovak, whose original five-year pact was due to expire at the close of the season, reportedly received a salary boost which will give him approximately $10,000 a year.

Pitt's Win Over Duke Stands Out

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 22 (INS)—The New Orleans States brought up the possibility today that the Sugar Bowl may have outsmarted the Rose Bowl this year. The States said in a front-page box:

"Michigan State's going to the Rose Bowl.

"And Michigan beat Michigan State, 14 to 7, didn't they?

"Ohio State beat Michigan, 17 to 0.

"Duke beat Ohio State, 26 to 14.

Maryland Gets 12,128 Tickets For Bowl Tilt

Distribution Policy Announced By Elkins

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Nov. 22 (AP)—Students, faculty members and close supporters of the University of Maryland athletic program, including Terrapin Club members and season ticket holders, will receive first call on Orange Bowl tickets, it was announced today.

The policy for distribution of the 10,529 tickets to the Maryland-Oklahoma game Jan. 2 in Miami was announced by Dr. Wilson H. Elkins after a meeting with the athletic council. Maryland receives 12,128 tickets, or like Oklahoma, one-sixth of the stadium capacity. Of the Terps allotment, 200 go to each member of the Atlantic Coast Conference.

The 7,500 undergraduate students will have the opportunity to purchase one ticket each, but only if they are going to attend the game.

Ticket orders will be accepted immediately and must be in by Dec. 10. Tickets will not be distributed before Dec. 20. Tickets are $6.25 each, plus $1.00 for mailing and handling each order. The address is Ticket Office, Box 295, University of Maryland, College Park, Maryland.

Andrews Defeats Jimmy Martinez

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Nov. 22 (AP)—Al Andrews, 163, of St. Paul, Minn., punched out a unanimous 10-round decision over Jimmy Martinez, 160¾, of Phoenix, Ariz., in a fast bout tonight.

A crowd of 2,405 paid a gross gate of $5,250 to see Andrews launch an attack in the opening round and stay on top to win easily.

Twice during the fight Andrews nailed Martinez with rights and had him on the verge of a knockout. He staggered Martinez in the fifth and seventh rounds with chopping rights.

Both swung freely throughout the fight but Andrews had too much steam and was in splendid physical condition. Martinez' nose bled from the first round.

Luppino Leads Major College Ground Gainers

Swink, Welsh Trail Star From Arizona

[By The Associated Press]

Arizona's Art Luppino, whose of playing football is just to grab the ball and run, already has set one major college ground gaining record this year. If he can stay in front of Navy's George Welsh and Jim Swink of Texas Christian for one more Saturday, he'll add these:

1. The first player to gain more ground by rushing than any other can gain by rushing and passing.

2. The first player to lead the nation's running backs for two consecutive seasons.

3. Arizona will be the first college to produce two different total offense champions.

Gallops 139 Yards

When Luppino galloped for 139 yards against New Mexico last Saturday he brought his total yardage for nine games to 1,245—all on the ground. That not only gave him the total offense lead, but it made him the top all-time major college rusher for a two-season plan.

As a sophomore in 1954, Luppino rushed 1,369 yards. His two-year total, with one game to go against Arizona State at Tempe, stands at 2,614, surpassing the service-interrupted two-season mark of 2,543 yards set by Rudy Mobley of Hardin-Simmons in 1942 and 1946.

Enke Won In 1947

Arizona's previous total offense champ was Fred Enke in 1947. Two individuals have won the title twice, Bob Fenimore of Oklahoma A. and M., 1944-45, and Johnny Bright of Drake, 1949-50.

Challenging the Arizona antelope are Welsh, who has gained all but 20 of his 1,163 yards by throwing passes, and Swink, another runner, with 1,152 yards on the ground.

In addition to threatening Luppino's total yardage lead, Welsh also stands an outside chance of capturing the passing title. Columbia's Claude Benham and Purdue's Len Dawson wound up with 89 and 87 completions, respectively. Welsh, with the top completion percentage (.623) and the top yardage (1,143) has hit on 76 of his 122 tosses. He needs 14 more against Army to top Benham.

Tatum Says Winner Must Score At Least Three Touchdowns

MIAMI, Fla., Nov. 22—(INS)—Coach Jim Tatum predicted today that the Jan. 2 Orange Bowl game between his undefeated Maryland team and unbeaten Oklahoma will not be the same defensive struggle as it was when the two teams last met in the annual classic.

Tatum, arriving in Miami to make preliminary arrangements for his team, said "the team that wins this one will have to score at least three touchdowns."

Carl E. Stotz Loses Little League Post

Commissioner Files Suit For $300,000

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., Nov. 22 (AP)—Little League Baseball Inc., today relieved Carl E. Stotz as commissioner of the nationwide organization aimed at promoting baseball for boys.

Peter J. McGovern, president of the corporation, took the action after Stotz filed an attachment petition in the Lycoming County Court preliminary to a $300,000 suit for breach of contract against Little League.

The corporation posted a $130,000 bond and regained access to its offices, which were padlocked yesterday after Stotz petition was filed. The padlock was removed after the bond was filed.

McGovern named John M. Lindemuth acting commissioner "with all the authority and duties heretofore reserved for Carl Stotz."

Lindemuth, who has been with Little League since 1940, has been assistant under Stotz.

McGovern said the normal activities of Little League headquarters would continue during the litigation. He added that the case would not affect local Little League franchises.

Stotz, who remains under contract with Little League, contended that he and volunteer field personnel "no longer have a representative voice in Little League policy decisions."

Stotz will continue to serve as a member of the board of directors of Little League. Stotz founded the Little League in Williamsport in 1939 to promote organized baseball among boys 12 and under. There are now 3,977 franchised clubs in the United States and some foreign countries.

An estimated 250,000 youngsters take part in the league season every summer, climaxed by the annual Little League World Series at Williamsport.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Mel Held, 29-year-old pitcher who had a trial with the Baltimore Orioles last spring, may make it next year. The 6 foot 1 hurler from Edon, Ohio had a 24-7 record at San Antonio last season. He completed 19 of 30 starts.

Ohio State's Cassady Voted Back Of Week

Featured Buckeyes' Win Over Michigan

[By The Associated Press]

Howard (Hopalong) Cassady ended his collegiate career at Ohio State in a blaze of headlines Saturday to earn Associated Press recognition as "Back of the Week."

The 1954 All-America halfback from Columbus, Ohio, set up a freakish field goal and scored one touchdown as Ohio State knocked Michigan out of the Rose Bowl with a 17-0 triumph. Although Ohio State won the Big Ten title for the second straight year, it can't go bowling under conference rules against repeat performances.

Scored 222 Points

Cassady gained 146 yards in 28 rushes. His performance boosted his career total to 15 touchdowns and 222 points in four years, since he played varsity ball as a freshman.

Hopalong's performance was a stickout because he turned it on in the clutch in the "big game" of the day. There were many others whose deeds put them in the running for the honor including Notre Dame's Paul Hornung, Washington's Credell Green, Arizona's Art Luppino, UCLA's Sam Brown, and Syracuse's Jim Brown.

Hornung kicked a tie-breaking field goal with only 2:15 to play in the final quarter for a 17-14 edge over Iowa.

Green carried the ball for 258 yards, averaging 9½ yards in 27 rushes, in Washington's 27-7 victory over Washington State.

Luppino galloped for a total of 139 yards in a 27-6 win over New Mexico.

Brown Stands Out

Syracuse's Jimmy Brown did everything but score as he ran through West Virginia's line with ease in a 20-13 Syracuse victory.

Alderman Sued By Jockey Club

1951 Checks Bounced, Track Wants $7,950

PITTSBURGH, (AP)—The Charles Town Jockey Club, which owns and operates Waterford Park race track near Chester, W. Va., has sued Alderman George J. Butler of Pittsburgh for $7,950.

In a civil action filed in U. S. District Court here yesterday, the club charged Butler gave the track a series of checks in 1951 totaling $18,000 which bounced, and later made good on about $10,000 worth.

Butler is a Democratic ward chairman and executive secretary of the City Pension Fund. Asked by a newsman if he gave the track bad checks, he said:

"When I get told, then I'll know what it's about."

Orioles Make Little Profit

Net $152,573.20 Reported By Miles

BALTIMORE, Nov. 22 (AP)—Stockholders of Baltimore Baseball Club, Inc., were told today the American League Orioles would come as close to the red as possible this year while still remaining in the black.

Lewis McCubbin, the organization's accountant, said profits for 1955 will be "close to zero" by Dec. 31.

In a letter to James Keelty Jr., newly-elected president of the Orioles, former President Clarence Miles said:

"Operating income (during the first nine months of 1955) decreased approximately $340,000 as compared to the same period of 1954. This was due primarily to a decrease of 209,000 admissions at home games and to certain decreases in admission prices which were made effective at the beginning of the season."

Net profits for the first nine months of 1955, Miles said, was $152,573.20.

McCubbin explained that the club will have no further income during the last three months of the year, although administrative expenses will continue.

SPORTS GRILL

by Pat Robinson

International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 22 (INS) — Looking back over a great racing season, it occurs to us that Belair Stud's great colt, Nashua, not only was the best of the three-year-olds but also deserves to be named horse of the year.

Of course it is a difference of opinion that makes horse racing and so you may not agree with our selections. Still, for what it is worth, we herewith hand you our annual picks in each division.

Two-year-old colts — Swoon's Son, Nail, Needles, Career Boy.

Two-year-old fillies—Doubledodgare, Nasrina, Dark Charger.

Three - year - old colt—Nashua, Swaps, Saratoga.

Three - year - old fillies—Misty Morn, High Voltage.

We don't see how we can go beyond Nashua to find the champion. The colt was never out of the money. He started 12 times, won 10, was second once and third once.

And he earned a record $752,550. This added to his earnings as a two-year-old brought his life-time total to $945,415 and placed him second on the all-time earnings list.

Citation is still first with $1,085,760 but two good stakes victories could put Nashua on top.

Nashua finished second to Swaps in the Kentucky Derby, but he later scored an easy decision over Swaps in a match race.

The champion raced to more or less easy victories in such famous stakes as the Flamingo, Florida Derby, Wood Memorial, Preakness, Belmont, Dwyer, Arlington Classic and the Jockey Club Gold Cup.

Best of all, the colt is sound as a dollar.

Each spring the pundits of the turf assure us that the new crop of two-year-olds isn't much good. But by the end of the season we find that they average up about the same as in previous years.

If anything, we'd be inclined to say this year's bunch of youngsters was a little better than usual, and we also believe there were more good ones.

Although we place Sonny Whitney's Career Boy no better than fourth on the year's performance, we think he may develop into the best three-year-old and a prime candidate for the Kentucky Derby.

The colt seems to like a route, and when the distances stretch out to a mile and an eighth and longer, he will be in his element.

The venerable Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons not only trained Nashua, top colt, but he also had a champion on the distaff side in Misty Morn, a filly who proved she could beat some of the best colts.

Dodgers Ada Macon

NEW YORK, Nov. 22 (INS) — Brooklyn Dodger vice president Fresco Thompson anounced today the Dodgers have acquired the Macon (Ga.) franchise in the South Atlantic League as a minor league farm affiliate.

Thompson, director of the world champions' farm system, said Macon replaces Elmira (N.Y.) as the Dodgers' Class A affiliate.

Motor Experts Prefer Du Pont ZEREX®
for winter-long anti-freeze protection against freeze-ups, rust and corrosion

Motor experts, men who know cars from A to Z, put their trust in the top-quality anti-freeze—Du Pont "Zerex." 91% of the starting drivers in this year's world-famous Indianapolis 500-mile race use Du Pont "Zerex" in their own personal cars.

Here's one reason:

SEE HOW MUCH CLEANER "ZEREX" KEEPS YOUR RADIATOR

Flask at left held a solution of water and ordinary anti-freeze with an oil inhibitor. Flask at right held a solution of "Zerex" and water. To each was added the same amount of ground rust—just as you might find in your own car's cooling system. Both flasks were shaken, then drained. Notice how a film of rust clings to the inside of the flask on left as it would to the metal surfaces of your car's cooling system. But the flask containing "Zerex" is clean! This demonstrates that Du Pont's special chemical rust inhibitor, which contains no oil, does not form a rusty oil film that could clog your radiator and cause overheating and serious engine damage.

"Quality is what counts! With 'Zerex' I can be sure of the best protection."
BOB SWEIKERT
Winner, 1955 500-miler

"Experience proves 'Zerex' protects my car best against freeze-ups and it keeps the cooling system clean..."
JOHNNIE PARSONS

"I find that 'Zerex' keeps my car's cooling system cleaner—there's no rust."

Ohio State's Cassady Voted Back Of Week

Featured Buckeyes' Win Over Michigan

[By The Associated Press]

Howard (Hopalong) Cassady ended his collegiate career at Ohio State in a blaze of headlines Saturday to earn Associated Press recognition as "Back of the Week."

The 1954 All-America halfback from Columbus, Ohio, set up a freakish field goal and scored one touchdown as Ohio State knocked Michigan out of the Rose Bowl with a 17-0 triumph. Although Ohio State won the Big Ten title for the second straight year, it can't go bowling under conference rules against repeat performances.

Scored 222 Points

Cassady gained 146 yards in 28 rushes. His performance boosted his career total to 15 touchdowns and 222 points in four years, since he played varsity ball as a freshman.

Hopalong's performance was a stickout because he turned it on in the clutch in the "big game" of the day. There were many others whose deeds put them in the running for the honor including Notre Dame's Paul Hornung, Washington's Credell Green, Arizona's Art Luppino, UCLA's Sam Brown, and Syracuse's Jim Brown.

Hornung kicked a tie-breaking field goal with only 2:15 to play in the final quarter for a 17-14 edge over Iowa.

Green carried the ball for 258 yards, averaging 9½ yards in 27 rushes, in Washington's 27-7 victory over Washington State.

Luppino galloped for a total of 139 yards in a 27-6 win over New Mexico.

Brown Stands Out

Syracuse's Jimmy Brown did everything but score as he ran through West Virginia's line with ease in a 20-13 Syracuse victory.

Alderman Sued By Jockey Club

1951 Checks Bounced, Track Wants $7,950

PITTSBURGH, (AP)—The Charles Town Jockey Club, which owns and operates Waterford Park race track near Chester, W. Va., has sued Alderman George J. Butler of Pittsburgh for $7,950.

In a civil action filed in U. S. District Court here yesterday, the club charged Butler gave the track a series of checks in 1951 totaling $18,000 which bounced, and later made good on about $10,000 worth.

Butler is a Democratic ward chairman and executive secretary of the City Pension Fund. Asked by a newsman if he gave the track bad checks, he said:

"When I get told, then I'll know what it's about."

Orioles Make Little Profit

Net $152,573.20 Reported By Miles

BALTIMORE, Nov. 22 (AP)—Stockholders of Baltimore Baseball Club, Inc., were told today the American League Orioles would come as close to the red as possible this year while still remaining in the black.

Lewis McCubbin, the organization's accountant, said profits for 1955 will be "close to zero" by Dec. 31.

In a letter to James Keelty Jr., newly-elected president of the Orioles, former President Clarence Miles said:

"Operating income (during the first nine months of 1955) decreased approximately $340,000 as compared to the same period of 1954. This was due primarily to a decrease of 209,000 admissions at home games and to certain decreases in admission prices which were made effective at the beginning of the season."

Net profits for the first nine months of 1955, Miles said, was $152,573.20.

McCubbin explained that the club will have no further income during the last three months of the year, although administrative expenses will continue.

SPORTS GRILL

by Pat Robinson

International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 22 (INS) — Looking back over a great racing season, it occurs to us that Belair Stud's great colt, Nashua, not only was the best of the three-year-olds but also deserves to be named horse of the year.

Of course it is a difference of opinion that makes horse racing and so you may not agree with our selections. Still, for what it is worth, we herewith hand you our annual picks in each division.

Two-year-old colts — Swoon's Son, Nail, Needles, Career Boy.

Two-year-old fillies—Doubledodgare, Nasrina, Dark Charger.

Three - year - old colt—Nashua, Swaps, Saratoga.

Three - year - old fillies—Misty Morn, High Voltage.

We don't see how we can go beyond Nashua to find the champion. The colt was never out of the money. He started 12 times, won 10, was second once and third once.

And he earned a record $752,550. This added to his earnings as a two-year-old brought his life-time total to $945,415 and placed him second on the all-time earnings list.

Citation is still first with $1,085,760 but two good stakes victories could put Nashua on top.

Nashua finished second to Swaps in the Kentucky Derby, but he later scored an easy decision over Swaps in a match race.

The champion raced to more or less easy victories in such famous stakes as the Flamingo, Florida Derby, Wood Memorial, Preakness, Belmont, Dwyer, Arlington Classic and the Jockey Club Gold Cup.

Best of all, the colt is sound as a dollar.

Each spring the pundits of the turf assure us that the new crop of two-year-olds isn't much good. But by the end of the season we find that they average up about the same as in previous years.

If anything, we'd be inclined to say this year's bunch of youngsters was a little better than usual, and we also believe there were more good ones.

Although we place Sonny Whitney's Career Boy no better than fourth on the year's performance, we think he may develop into the best three-year-old and a prime candidate for the Kentucky Derby.

The colt seems to like a route, and when the distances stretch out to a mile and an eighth and longer, he will be in his element.

The venerable Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons not only trained Nashua, top colt, but he also had a champion on the distaff side in Misty Morn, a filly who proved she could beat some of the best colts.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22 (INS) — Brooklyn Dodger vice president Fresco Thompson anounced today the Dodgers have acquired the Macon (Ga.) franchise in the South Atlantic League as a minor league farm affiliate.

Motor Experts Prefer Du Pont ZEREX®
for winter-long anti-freeze protection against freeze-ups, rust and corrosion

SEE HOW MUCH CLEANER "ZEREX" KEEPS YOUR RADIATOR

Flask at left held a solution of water and ordinary anti-freeze with an oil inhibitor. Flask at right held a solution of "Zerex" and water. To each was added the same amount of ground rust—just as you might find in your own car's cooling system. Both flasks were shaken, then drained. Notice how a film of rust clings to the inside of the flask on left as it would to the metal surfaces of your car's cooling system. But the flask containing "Zerex" is clean! This demonstrates that Du Pont's special chemical rust inhibitor, which contains no oil, does not form a rusty oil film that could clog your radiator and cause overheating and serious engine damage.

"Quality is what counts! With 'Zerex' I can be sure of the best protection." BOB SWEIKERT Winner, 1955 500-miler

"Experience proves 'Zerex' protects my car best against freeze-ups and it keeps the cooling system clean..." JOHNNIE PARSONS

"I find that 'Zerex' keeps my car's cooling system cleaner—there's no rust." DUANE CARTER

Another Salute

"Dateline 2," another salute to the freedom of the press under the blessing of the Overseas Press Club, was a considerable improvement over the first one, but it must have left a lot of newspapermen distinctly uncomfortable.

Whenever show people get misty-eyed about reporters and their unflagging devotion to getting the truth (I once knew a reporter whose devotion flagged for 10 seconds. He was drummed out of the lodge) and their eternal vigilance at guarding the nation's liberties and the rest of it—well, it gets a little much. I've always felt strongly that an actor talking about the sacred responsibilities of a free press didn't really know what the words mean. (What they mean, old boy, is a newspaperman's right to call your last picture a stinker.)

Along with an all-star cast including Greer Garson, John Wayne, Milton Berle, Peggy Lee, Janet Blair, Pat Benoit, Robert Frost, William Holden, John Raitt and Vice President Nixon, there were several valentines to the press corps which got a little out of hand. One was a recital by John Wayne to the accompaniment of throbbing violins of a Marine combat correspondent's description of a battle graveyard. This must have been a rather sticky bit of prose even in print. But to be read aloud while the violins sobbed—well, sir, there wasn't a wet eye in my house.

This was followed by a dramatic sketch purporting to show the New York Herald Tribune's Marguerite Higgins instilling the will to live into a wounded G.I. on a Korean battlefield. As fiction goes, it wasn't bad and Pat Benoit, as Miss Higgins, was mighty cute. But it's a good thing Miss Higgins was in Moscow at the time. Otherwise, I'm sure she'd have crawled under the bed until it blew over.

About the only newspaper tidbit I could watch with any degree of comfort was a ballet involving the characters from Al Capp's "Li'l Abner" which was amusing and very pretty in color. The actual participation of reporters was limited to a brief bit in which a number of noted war correspondents recited a sentence or two placing them on the sites of their most famous stories. It was very effective.

And when the show got off the newspapermen, which it did from time to time, it was very perky, though somewhat short of sensational. It's very nice of the Ford Company and NBC to salute the newspapermen from time to time—and apparently NBC plans to keep on doing it for some time. It's also pretty nice of the actors, most of whom donated their services.

We've all had our say about the West Coast and its provincialism. Well, that West is fighting back. In The San Diego Union radio and TV columnist Donald Freeman asks what on earth happens to TV writers "out there"—out there being New York.

"As I understand it, the whole theory of TV drama out there is that everyone is a sensitive neurotic artist living in a cold water walkup in Greenwich Village or, that failing, a frustrated gray flanneled agency man who works on Madison Avenue and commutes in from Greenwich, Conn. Well, in the normal experience of most of us, we have precious little to do with sensitive, neurotic artists or frustrated gray flanneled agency men. I guess the TV people out there in New York have completely lost touch with reality."

Freeman then told the sad story of a West Coast writer who was lured to New York to write a live TV show. He left sunny California, vowing he'd hang on to his integrity and promising to return after writing only one TV live play.

"As soon as he got out there he traded his convertible for a hard top. Then he took on all the protective coloration they have out there—Brooks Brothers suit, hat, raincoat, year-round sallow complexion. He really went New York in a big way. Rather a shame, too, that such a promising talent had to go out there and sell out."

Contract Bridge

by Josephine Culbertson

BAD TIMING

THE PROPER play of the hand below was certainly not difficult, but the non-expert declarer made a mistake in the timing, and went down. This same type of hand is encountered frequently, and so the average (or worse-than-average) player might well observe where the declarer went wrong, and profit from his error.

South dealer.
North-South vulnerable.

North: ♠ 5 4 3 ♥ A K 10 6 2 ♦ A 7 4 ♣ 3 2
West: ♠ Q 8 6 ♥ J 7 ♦ K 10 8 5 ♣ K Q 6 4
East: ♠ J 2 ♥ Q 9 8 4 ♦ J 9 6 ♣ J 10 9 7
South: ♠ A K 10 9 7 ♥ 5 3 ♦ Q 3 2 ♣ A 8 5

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	Pass	2 ♥	Pass
2 ♠	Pass	3 ♠	Pass
4 ♠	Pass	Pass	Pass

The bidding was sound throughout. Note that North properly raised his partner's rebid spade suit instead of branching out into some such silly venture as a three-diamond bid to show the ace. It is not impossible that many pairs would end up at three notrump on these hands and go down against good defense.

West opened the club king, and South at least got off on the right foot when he held up the ace. East had encouraged with the jack of clubs on the first trick, so West continued with a low club. This time, of course, South won, but his next move was to prove fatal. Apparently convinced that he could do no better than ruff his last club in dummy, he forthwith did so. He then cashed the ace and king of trumps and the two top hearts, and ruffed a heart. Unfortunately, however, this ruff failed to establish the rest of the heart suit—it did not figure to, since a 3-3 break is decidedly against expectancy—and South ended up by losing two diamonds, one spade and one club.

The correct timing of this sort of deal is simple but important. South must not ruff his own last club until that ruff can produce a vital entry to dummy. The proper line, after winning the second trick with the club ace, is to cash the two top spades and the two top hearts, then to ruff a heart. If West chooses to overruff—let him. We'll assume, however, that he does not so choose. Thereupon, declarer ruffs the club in dummy and ruffs another heart, establishing the fifth card of the suit. The diamond ace remains in dummy for entry, and South is on safe ground, losing only one spade, one diamond and one club.

ON DRAWING TRUMPS

ANCIENT whimsies can do more harm than good. Consider the one that goes: "Many a man is walking barefoot through the streets of London, simply because he forgot to draw trumps." Well, there may have been many men in this horrid predicament, but the chances are that at least half of them lost their shoes by drawing trumps too early or too often.

Here's a case in point:

South dealer.
East-West vulnerable.

North: ♠ K 9 5 3 ♥ A Q 10 9 ♦ J 8 7 4 ♣ Q
West: ♠ A 7 4 ♥ 5 2 ♦ A Q 5 ♣ J 10 7 6 4
East: ♠ 8 2 ♥ 8 7 6 4 3 ♦ 9 6 3 2 ♣ K 9
South: ♠ Q J 10 6 ♥ K J ♦ K 10 ♣ A 8 5 3 2

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 ♣	Pass	1 ♥	Pass
1 ♠	Pass	3 ♠	Pass
4 ♠	Pass	Pass	Pass

North's jump-raise of spades on the second round was something of a stretch, but there was nothing wrong with the final contract.

West decided to lead the five of hearts through North's heart bid. South won with the king and led the trump queen. West won and shifted to a low club, East covering dummy's queen and South winning with the ace.

Declarer now cashed two more rounds of trumps, ending in dummy, and then led a low diamond to his own ten. West won with the queen and laid down the club jack, forcing dummy to ruff with its last trump.

The contract was now hopeless. South could discard two losers on dummy's hearts but he could not prevent West from taking the diamond ace and a club trick, or the equivalent.

South went a little too far with his trump-drawing. He should not have led the third round. The right plan, after his own club ace was removed, was to lead a trump to dummy, but then to forget about the one trump still outstanding and return a diamond toward the closed hand. Now dummy would have two trumps instead of one, and West could not do anything with his high clubs.

Another Salute

"Dateline 2," another salute to the freedom of the press under the blessing of the Overseas Press Club, was a considerable improvement over the first one, but it must have left a lot of newspapermen distinctly uncomfortable.

Whenever show people get misty-eyed about reporters and their unflagging devotion to getting the truth (I once knew a reporter whose devotion flagged for 10 seconds. He was drummed out of the lodge) and their eternal vigilance at guarding the nation's liberties and the rest of it—well, it gets a little much. I've always felt strongly that an actor talking about the sacred responsibilities of a free press didn't really know what the words mean. (What they mean, old boy, is a newspaperman's right to call your last picture a stinker.)

Along with an all-star cast including Greer Garson, John Wayne, Milton Berle, Peggy Lee, Janet Blair, Pat Benoit, Robert Frost, William Holden, John Raitt and Vice President Nixon, there were several valentines to the press corps which got a little out of hand. One was a recital by John Wayne to the accompaniment of throbbing violins of a Marine combat correspondent's description of a battle graveyard. This must have been a rather sticky bit of prose even in print. But to be read aloud while the violins sobbed—well, sir, there wasn't a wet eye in my house.

This was followed by a dramatic sketch purporting to show the New York Herald Tribune's Marguerite Higgins instilling the will to live into a wounded G.I. on a Korean battlefield. As fiction goes, it wasn't bad and Pat Benoit, as Miss Higgins, was mighty cute. But it's a good thing Miss Higgins was in Moscow at the time. Otherwise, I'm sure she'd have crawled under the bed until it blew over.

About the only newspaper tidbit I could watch with any degree of comfort was a ballet involving the characters from Al Capp's "Li'l Abner" which was amusing and very pretty in color. The actual participation of reporters was limited to a brief bit in which a number of noted war correspondents recited a sentence or two placing them on the sites of their most famous stories. It was very effective.

And when the show got off the newspapermen, which it did from time to time, it was very perky, though somewhat short of sensational. It's very nice of the Ford Company and NBC to salute the newspapermen from time to time—and apparently NBC plans to keep on doing it for some time. It's also pretty nice of the actors, most of whom donated their services.

We've all had our say about the West Coast and its provincialism. Well, that West is fighting back. In The San Diego Union radio and TV columnist Donald Freeman asks what on earth happens to TV writers "out there"—out there being New York.

"As I understand it, the whole theory of TV drama out there is that everyone is a sensitive neurotic artist living in a cold water walkup in Greenwich Village or, that failing, a frustrated gray flanneled agency man who works on Madison Avenue and commutes in from Greenwich, Conn. Well, in the normal experience of most of us, we have precious little to do with sensitive, neurotic artists or frustrated gray flanneled agency men. I guess the TV people out there in New York have completely lost touch with reality."

Freeman then told the sad story of a West Coast writer who was lured to New York to write a live TV show. He left sunny California, vowing he'd hang on to his integrity and promising to return after writing only one TV live play.

"As soon as he got out there he traded his convertible for a hard top. Then he took on all the protective coloration they have out there—Brooks Brothers suit, hat, raincoat, year-round sallow complexion. He really went New York in a big way. Rather a shame, too, that such a promising talent had to go out there and sell out."

Contract Bridge

by Josephine Culbertson

BAD TIMING

THE PROPER play of the hand below was certainly not difficult, but the non-expert declarer made a mistake in the timing, and went down. This same type of hand is encountered frequently, and so the average (or worse-than-average) player might well observe where the declarer went wrong, and profit from his error.

South dealer.
North-South vulnerable.

	♠ 5 4 3 ♥ A K 10 6 2 ♦ A 7 4 ♣ 3 2
♠ Q 8 6 ♥ J 7 ♦ K 10 8 5 ♣ K Q 6 4	N W E S	♠ J 2 ♥ Q 9 8 4 ♦ J 9 6 ♣ J 10 9 7
	♠ A K 10 9 7 ♥ 5 3 ♦ Q 3 2 ♣ A 8 5

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	Pass	2 ♥	Pass
2 ♠	Pass	3 ♠	Pass
4 ♠	Pass	Pass	Pass

The bidding was sound throughout. Note that North properly raised his partner's rebid spade suit instead of branching out into some such silly venture as a three-diamond bid to show the ace. It is not impossible that many pairs would end up at three notrump on these hands and go down against good defense.

West opened the club king, and South at least got off on the right foot when he held up the ace. East had encouraged with the jack of clubs on the first trick, so West continued with a low club. This time, of course, South won, but his next move was to prove fatal. Apparently convinced that he could do no better than ruff his last club in dummy, he forthwith did so. He then cashed the ace and king of trumps and the two top hearts, and ruffed a heart. Unfortunately, however, this ruff failed to establish the rest of the heart suit—it did not figure to, since a 3-3 break is decidedly against expectancy—and South ended up by losing two diamonds, one spade and one club.

The correct timing of this sort of deal is simple but important. South must not ruff his own last club until that ruff can produce a vital entry to dummy. The proper line, after winning the second trick with the club ace, is to cash the two top spades and the two top hearts, then to ruff a heart. If West chooses to overruff—let him. We'll assume, however, that he does not so choose. Thereupon, declarer ruffs the club in dummy and ruffs another heart, establishing the fifth card of the suit. The diamond ace remains in dummy for entry, and South is on safe ground, losing only one spade, one diamond and one club.

ON DRAWING TRUMPS

ANCIENT whimsies can do more harm than good. Consider the one that goes: "Many a man is walking barefoot through the streets of London, simply because he forgot to draw trumps." Well, there may have been many men in this horrid predicament, but the chances are that at least half of them lost their shoes by drawing trumps too early or too often.

Here's a case in point:

South dealer.
East-West vulnerable.

	♠ K 9 5 3 ♥ A Q 10 9 ♦ J 8 7 4 ♣ Q
♠ A 7 4 ♥ 5 2 ♦ A Q 5 ♣ J 10 7 6 4	N W E S	♠ 8 2 ♥ 8 7 6 4 3 ♦ 9 6 3 2 ♣ K 9
	♠ Q J 10 6 ♥ K J ♦ K 10 ♣ A 8 5 3 2

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 ♣	Pass	1 ♥	Pass
1 ♠	Pass	3 ♠	Pass
4 ♠	Pass	Pass	Pass

North's jump-raise of spades on the second round was something of a stretch, but there was nothing wrong with the final contract.

West decided to lead the five of hearts through North's heart bid. South won with the king and led the trump queen. West won and shifted to a low club, East covering dummy's queen and South winning with the ace.

Declarer now cashed two more rounds of trumps, ending in dummy, and then led a low diamond to his own ten. West won with the queen and laid down the club jack, forcing dummy to ruff with its last trump.

The contract was now hopeless. South could discard two losers on dummy's hearts but he could not prevent West from taking the diamond ace and a club trick, or the equivalent.

South went a little too far with his trump-drawing. He should not have led the third round. The right plan, after his own club ace was removed, was to lead a trump to dummy, but then to forget about the one trump still outstanding and return a diamond toward the closed hand. Now dummy would have two trumps instead of one, and West could not do anything with his high clubs.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

A New Hairdo Offers Much To A Charming Appearance

Suppose you have that sudden urge which from time to time grips every smart girl or woman — the urge to do something different with your hair. As fashion changes and progresses — hair styles usually become outmoded. Actually, a passe hair style dates you faster than do passe clothes.

It is only natural that you want something pretty magical — a new coiffure to make you look different, feel more fascinating, and even make you feel different. But whatever you decide to do with your hair, do it with a little thought and planning, or it can never never be a tribute to either your beauty of your charm. You want it to give a well-groomed look to your whole appearance and compliment the new narrowed down and ladylike look in clothes.

Curls are wonderful. But there are certain women who completely obscure their true distinction under a curly topknot. A lot of fussy curls make many women look older. A simple coiffure with soft waves and straighter lines is not nearly as aging. Who knows? You may have been hiding your light under a bushel of curls all these years.

If you have fairly even features, a pretty hairline and nice lustrous looking hair (get busy with the hair brush), why not try one of the new up-dos moulded into a "French Twist"? It gives the right look with the more important hat, and you'll have to pay more attention to your eye make-up . . . as it is practically an accessory to your whole appearance. As I told you recently, even for daytime eyes, make up with a slight mystery or orinetal look gives you such an interesting new effect.

"WHAT'S YOUR LINE?"—Horizontal, vertical and diagonal lines make a world of difference in what clothing will do for (or to) your figure! Complete information on handling lines to best advantage. Cocktails, wine, beer, ale, and even soft drinks are decidedly fattening.

Pare Your Plump Parts

If you find your figure has become plump in the wrong places and the trouble is not glandular, you can bring your figure back to normal. How? Through combined exercise and simple diet.

You have to promise yourself to follow through for six weeks. After that the results will make you so happy, your mind will be made up for you.

Make a list of "Don't Touch Foods." Then make a promise to yourself that you won't touch any of the foods that pad your figure . . . six weeks, now. Here we go!

No foods of or mixed with flour for lunch, dinner, or between meals (one slice of toast for breakfast allowed).

No mayonnaise.

Fresh fruit desserts only (no bananas, though).

No fatty parts of meats.

No fried foods.

If you have between-meal hunger eat any fresh fruits (except bananas). Crunch on a raw carrot, celery or drink black coffee, skim milk, tomato juice, Chinese tea (never sweetened), clear meat broth, or apple juice.

YOUR BEAUTY DIET

Whether you want to gain, lose or remain the same—YOUR BEAUTY DIET will provide you with a pattern of safe, laboratory-tested menus that can be followed by the entire family according to each individual's needs. YOUR BEAUTY DIET is a way of eating, not starving. Write to Secrets of Charm in care of this newspaper and enclose 10c in coin, plus stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Curls are wonderful. But there are certain women who completely obscure their true distinction under a curly topknot. A lot of fussy curls make many women look older. A simple coiffure with soft waves and straighter lines is not nearly as aging. Who knows? You may have been hiding your light under a bushel of curls all these years.

If you have fairly even features, a pretty hairline and nice lustrous looking hair (get busy with the hair brush), why not try one of the new up-dos moulded into a "French Twist"? it gives the right look with the more important hat, and you'll have to pay more attention to your eye make-up . . . as it is practically an accessory to your whole appearance. As I told you recently, even for daytime eyes, make up with a slight mystery or orinetal look gives you such an interesting new effect.

"WHAT'S YOUR LINE?"—Horizontal, vertical and diagonal lines make a world of difference in what clothing will do for (or to) your figure! Complete information on handling lines to best advantage. Write to Secrets of Charm in care of this newspaper, enclosing 5c (in coin) and a stamped, self-addressed return envelope.

Cocktails, wine, beer, ale, and even soft drinks are decidedly fattening.

Pare Your Plump Parts

If you find your figure has become plump in the wrong places and the trouble is not glandular, you can bring your figure back to normal. How? Through combined exercise and simple diet.

You have to promise yourself to follow through for six weeks. After that the results will make you so happy, your mind will be made up for you.

Make a list of "Don't Touch Foods." Then make a promise to yourself that you won't touch any of the foods that pad your figure . . . six weeks, now. Here we go!

No foods of or mixed with flour for lunch, dinner, or between meals (one slice of toast for breakfast allowed).

No cream or cream sauces.

No mayonnaise.

Avoid beverages with meals.

Fresh fruit desserts only (no bananas, though).

No sugar, no candies.

Never reach for the salt shaker at the table or a salty snack on the hors d' oeuvre plate.

No preserves, jams, peanut butter.

No fatty parts of meats.

No fried foods.

If you have between-meal hunger eat any fresh fruits (except bananas). Crunch on a raw carrot, celery or drink black coffee, skim milk, tomato juice, Chinese tea (never sweetened), clear meat broth, or apple juice.

YOUR BEAUTY DIET

Whether you want to gain, lose or remain the same—YOUR BEAUTY DIET will provide you with a pattern of safe, laboratory-tested menus that can be followed by the entire family according to each individual's needs. YOUR BEAUTY DIET is a way of eating, not starving. Write to Secrets of Charm in care of this newspaper and enclose 10c in coin, plus stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Roy Radford Blough vs. Thelma Mary Blough. No. 24326 Equity. In the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this suit is to procure a decree of Annulment of a marriage by the Petitioner, Roy Radford Blough, from the Defendant, Thelma Mary Blough.

The Petitioner states that the parties hereto were married on June 16, 1954, at Cumberland, Allegany County, Maryland; that the Defendant induced the Petitioner to enter into said marriage by means of certain fraudulent statements; that the Defendant was guilty of pre-marital unchastity of which the Petitioner was ignorant and has not condoned; that no children were born of this marriage; that the Petitioner is a resident of South Fork, Pennsylvania while the Defendant is a resident of Beaver Dale, Pennsylvania.

It is thereupon, this 1st day of November, 1955, ordered by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland, in Equity, that the Petitioner cause a copy of this Order to be inserted in some newspaper in Allegany County once each week for four (4) successive weeks before the 3rd day of December, 1955, giving notice to the said Thelma Mary Blough of the object and substance of this Petition and warning her to be and appear in this Court, in person or by Solicitor, on or before the 20th day of December, 1955, to show cause, if any she has, why a decree ought not be passed as prayed.

"Sagebrush" Squabble Settled By Air Secretary

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22 (AP)—A squabble between the Air Force and Army over whether the Army will be allowed to test out a new helicopter reconnaissance system in the current Louisiana maneuvers has been settled by Secretary of the Air Force Quarles. The Army won.

Quarles disclosed today he had overruled a decision by air Gen. O. P. Weyland, director of the joint Air Force-Army exercise Sagebrush. He instructed Weyland to permit the Army to use its new "Skycav" (meaning sky cavalry) for flying the specialized reconnaissance unit into "enemy" territory.

This minor wrangle over a technical point in a tactical exercise seemed to be another facet of the beneath-the-surface controversy growing out of Army expansion of its aviation activities.

In this instance—involving no more than 29 aircraft of the 1,200 planes in exercise Sagebrush—the issue was this:

The Air Force claimed that an agreement on ground rules between the Army and Air Force, made long before the exercise started, provided that any "unsolved" operation would be conducted in Air Force aircraft. When Weyland was notified by the Army that it planned to use its "Skycav" outfit for making a reconnaissance of aggressor territory he ruled this was contrary to the agreement because it represented an assault operation.

The Army dissented and appealed to the Pentagon through Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, Army chief of staff, and Secretary of the Army Brucker.

In answer to inquiries by newsmen, Quarles said that after review by himself and Brucker, it was decided that "the Army should be permitted to proceed with its proposed experiments."

An Air Force spokesman said Weyland's original decision applied only to the "Skycav" experiment and did not prohibit Army aircraft from flying over aggressor territory in exercise Sagebrush in artillery spotting work, air evacuation of simulated wounded and other missions.

The old argument apparently revolved around the definition of "assault."

Army exponents said the "Skycav" outfit—which uses liaison type planes equipped with television, infra-red observation equipment, motion pictures and long-range cameras—is entirely for the purposes of reconnaissance.

The Air Force—which claims it has the basic mission of transporting assault infantry forces over or behind enemy lines—claimed it was an "assault" operation.

The Royal Canadian Mounted Police, which was organized in 1873, patrols all of Canada. In 1950 it took over the Newfoundland Constabulary. Its headquarters are Ottawa.

Officer Denies He "Solicited" Funds From GIs

FT. MEADE, Md., Nov. 22 (AP)—Maj. John N. Scioli testified before a military court today that the enlisted men from whom he obtained money had urged him to take it. He said he never actually "solicited" funds from the soldiers.

The former Philadelphian is before a general court martial on charges of borrowing money from enlisted men under his command and of intercepting mail intended for his commanding officer.

Under direct examination only, it was brought out that Scioli was under stringent financial hardship and that three enlisted men had urged him to take sums of money to be repaid later.

A deposition from Scioli's former commanding officer at Ritchie, Col. Maurice Higgins, stated that the major's performance of his duties was "very fine." Higgins is now stationed in Paris.

Michael Fichetti, who as an enlisted man at Ft. Ritchie drove for Scioli, testified today that the major had never tried to borrow money from him.

Three enlisted men earlier testified about loans they said Scioli made from them.

M. Sgt. Peter J. Tellie said he loaned the major $150 which was repaid in about 10 months. He said he made the loan in May of 1954 at Ritchie.

M. Sgt. Odell Bowling testified he loaned Scioli $250 of which Scioli had repaid only $10. This loan, too, was made in May of 1954, Bowling testified.

A deposition from Sgt. 1.C. Kenneth E. Warren stated that Scioli had borrowed $100 in the spring of 1954 and repaid that amount within eight months.

Thousand-To-One Rescue Reported

CAPETOWN, South Africa, Nov. 22 (AP)—A thousand-to-one chance rescue in the wastes of the Atlantic Ocean was reported today by crewmen of the British whaler Setter Nine.

The Setter Nine was two days out of Dakar last week when skipper Roa Hansen, 36, of Norway slipped overboard in inky darkness.

Britain Charges Bulganin Hypocrite

LONDON, Nov. 22 (AP) — Britain took off the diplomatic kid gloves today and bluntly accused Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin of hypocrisy in his latest pronouncement on German reunification.

In an exceptional move, the Foreign Office issued a tough-worded statement countering a speech the Russian Premier made yesterday before the Indian Parliament in New Delhi.

Bulganin said Russian foreign policy is based on noninterference in the internal affairs of other states and added the German problem should be solved primarily by the German people themselves.

Roy Radford Blough vs. Thelma Mary Blough. No. 24326 Equity. In the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this suit is to procure a decree of Annulment of a marriage by the Petitioner, Roy Radford Blough, from the Defendant, Thelma Mary Blough.

The Petitioner states that the parties hereto were married on June 16, 1954, at Cumberland, Allegany County, Maryland; that the Defendant induced the Petitioner to enter into said marriage by means of certain fraudulent statements; that the Defendant was guilty of pre-marital unchastity of which the Petitioner was ignorant and has not condoned; that no children were born of this marriage; that the Petitioner is a resident of South Fork, Pennsylvania while the Defendant is a resident of Beaver Dale, Pennsylvania.

It is thereupon, this 1st day of November, 1955, ordered by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland, in Equity, that the Petitioner cause a copy of this Order to be inserted in some newspaper in Allegany County once each week for four (4) successive weeks before the 3rd day of December, 1955, giving notice to the said Thelma Mary Blough of the object and substance of this Petition and warning her to be and appear in this Court, in person or by Solicitor, on or before the 20th day of December, 1955, to show cause, if any she has, why a decree ought not be passed as prayed.

"Sagebrush" Squabble Settled By Air Secretary

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22 (AP)—A squabble between the Air Force and Army over whether the Army will be allowed to test out a new helicopter reconnaissance system in the current Louisiana maneuvers has been settled by Secretary of the Air Force Quarles. The Army won.

Quarles disclosed today he had overruled a decision by air Gen. O. P. Weyland, director of the joint Air Force-Army exercise Sagebrush. He instructed Weyland to permit the Army to use its new "Skycav" (meaning sky cavalry) for flying the specialized reconnaissance unit into "enemy" territory.

This minor wrangle over a technical point in a tactical exercise seemed to be another facet of the beneath-the-surface controversy growing out of Army expansion of its aviation activities.

In this instance—involving no more than 29 aircraft of the 1,200 planes in exercise Sagebrush—the issue was this:

The Air Force claimed that an agreement on ground rules between the Army and Air Force, made long before the exercise started, provided that any "unsolved" operation would be conducted in Air Force aircraft. When Weyland was notified by the Army that it planned to use its "Skycav" outfit for making a reconnaissance of aggressor territory he ruled this was contrary to the agreement because it represented an assault operation.

The Army dissented and appealed to the Pentagon through Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, Army chief of staff, and Secretary of the Army Brucker.

In answer to inquiries by newsmen, Quarles said that after review by himself and Brucker, it was decided that "the Army should be permitted to proceed with its proposed experiments."

An Air Force spokesman said Weyland's original decision applied only to the "Skycav" experiment and did not prohibit Army aircraft from flying over aggressor territory in exercise Sagebrush in artillery spotting work, air evacuation of simulated wounded and other missions.

The old argument apparently revolved around the definition of "assault."

Army exponents said the "Skycav" outfit—which uses liaison type planes equipped with television, infra-red observation equipment, motion pictures and long-range cameras—is entirely for the purposes of reconnaissance.

The Air Force—which claims it has the basic mission of transporting assault infantry forces over or behind enemy lines—claimed it was an "assault" operation.

The Royal Canadian Mounted Police, which was organized in 1873, patrols all of Canada. In 1950 it took over the Newfoundland Constabulary. Its headquarters are Ottawa.

Officer Denies He "Solicited" Funds From GIs

FT. MEADE, Md., Nov. 22 (AP)—Maj. John N. Scioli testified before a military court today that the enlisted men from whom he obtained money had urged him to take it. He said he never actually "solicited" funds from the soldiers.

Scioli, former executive officer at Ft. Ritchie, was on the stand only briefly. His testimony continues tomorrow.

The former Philadelphian is before a general court martial on charges of borrowing money from enlisted men under his command and of intercepting mail intended for his commanding officer.

Under direct examination only, it was brought out that Scioli was under stringent financial hardship and that three enlisted men had urged him to take sums of money to be repaid later.

A deposition from Scioli's former commanding officer at Ritchie, Col. Maurice Higgins, stated that the major's performance of his duties was "very fine." Higgins is now stationed in Paris.

Michael Fichetti, who as an enlisted man at Ft. Ritchie drove for Scioli, testified today that the major had never tried to borrow money from him.

Three enlisted men earlier testified about loans they said Scioli made from them.

M. Sgt. Peter J. Tellie said he loaned the major $150 which was repaid in about 10 months. He said he made the loan in May of 1954 at Ritchie.

M. Sgt. Odell Bowling testified he loaned Scioli $250 of which Scioli had repaid only $10. This loan, too, was made in May of 1954, Bowling testified.

A deposition from Sgt. 1.C. Kenneth E. Warren stated that Scioli had borrowed $100 in the spring of 1954 and repaid that amount within eight months.

Thousand-To-One Rescue Reported

CAPETOWN, South Africa, Nov. 22 (AP)—A thousand-to-one chance rescue in the wastes of the Atlantic Ocean was reported today by crewmen of the British whaler Setter Nine.

The Setter Nine was two days out of Dakar last week when skipper Roa Hansen, 36, of Norway slipped overboard in inky darkness.

He was missed 2½ hours later and the ship reversed course with her searchlights scanning the choppy sea.

Britain Charges Bulganin Hypocrite

LONDON, Nov. 22 (AP) — Britain took off the diplomatic kid gloves today and bluntly accused Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin of hypocrisy in his latest pronouncement on German reunification.

In an exceptional move, the Foreign Office issued a tough-worded statement countering a speech the Russian Premier made yesterday before the Indian Parliament in New Delhi.

Bulganin said Russian foreign policy is based on noninterference in the internal affairs of other states and added the German problem should be solved primarily by the German people themselves.

Traffic Signals For New Bridge Are Going Up

Maryland Approach Lane To Be Marked

The traffic signal system for the new Cumberland-Ridgeley Bridge is being installed, Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan announced yesterday.

The Potomac Edison Company, he said, yesterday began installing the cable and the three traffic lights for the busy intersection.

The traffic control plan will be in operation this week, weather permitting, he said.

Work on the traffic signals was delayed when cable which will serve the lights failed to arrive on time, and a few more days of delay was added by the recent snow.

Commissioner Keegan said the work will not take long, since conduits through which the cables will be strung were provided when the approach was built.

Also placed during the construction was the tripping mechanism which will control traffic for vehicles leaving the interstate span at Riverside Park.

Keegan said the Police Department's Traffic Bureau will make a close study of the operation of the traffic control system, and keep making adjustments until the right cycle is found.

A great deal of study has gone into the system, he said, in order to expedite the movement of the heavy traffic.

Keegan said the department will paint the center lane of the approach from the Baltimore Street Bridge with "Bridge" and "Route 28" to help strangers keep in the proper lane for entering the bridge.

New Farm Bureau Leaders

Traffic Control Meetings Slated

The Mountain Traffic Safety Committee will present its program to the Maryland State Roads Commission and the Judiciary Committee of the Legislative Council next Tuesday, according to Ralph Race, Frostburg, chairman.

He said representatives of the committee will meet with the State Roads Commission Tuesday at 1 p. m. in Baltimore, and with the Legislative Council committee at 2 p. m. in Baltimore.

Confirmation of the appointments was received yesterday by Senator Charles M. See from Paul Burke, chairman of the Maryland Traffic Safety Commission.

The SRC has announced plans for a series of signs to be placed on Big Savage Mountain.

The committee feels the proposed are "desirable but totally inadequate" to meet the problem and will outline its plan for the consideration of the roads officials.

Details of the committee's program will later be explained to the Legislative Council group.

A committee spokesman said the "key to immediate action is the driver" and that current efforts must be directed toward him.

Only 35 Ballot In ASC Election

Only about four per cent of the 860 Allegany County farmers who were mailed ballots in the current Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee election have returned their ballots to the County ASC office.

Miss Elizabeth A. Hoover, manager of the ASC office, reported yesterday that only 35 of the 860 ballots have been marked and returned. Many more are expected before Monday, November 28, the voting deadline.

Five-member ASC committees will be elected in five different communities in the county. The five community ASC chairmen will meet December 5 to elect a new county ASC committee. There are 10 nominees in each of the five communities.

800 Feet Of Water Line Is Installed

Work on the laying of the North Branch water line is progressing well, according to Water Commissioner William J. Edwards.

He said 450 feet of the line was installed yesterday, bringing the two-day total to the 800-foot mark.

Laying of the 27,000-foot line got under way near the site of the new Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company plant Monday.

Pipe deliveries have been excellent, and 14 of the 26 carloads of 18-inch steel pipe and fittings have been unloaded here, he added.

Motorists, Pedestrians Confused By Lights

Motorists and pedestrians alike were a bit confused last night about eight o'clock when momentary trouble developed in the traffic signal lights at the corner of Baltimore and Mechanic streets.

The lights flashed both "walk" and "stop" at the same time, causing both drivers and pedestrians to be a little "leery" and more cautious.

As the lights flashed to green, the trouble ended and they were back to normal operation.

VFW Post Will Celebrate 30th Birthday On Friday

The 30th birthday of Henry Hart Post 1411, Veterans of Foreign Wars, will be observed on Friday evening at the post home with an appropriate program, complete with cake and candles.

Paul Laber, program chairman, said all past commanders of the post and past presidents of the Ladies Auxiliary unit, founded shortly after the VFW post, will be in attendance.

"Open House" will be held, with a dance scheduled to begin at 9 p. m. The Fields Trio will provide the music for the dance.

Master of ceremonies will be Past Commander Thomas Whalley with Guy Smith chairman of the dance. The present commander of the post is Cornelius W. Rice, while Mary Moore is auxiliary unit president.

The 1955 membership of the local post was 343 and yesterday the 200 mark for this year's membership drive was reached.

Schools Begin Thanksgiving Holiday Today

Public and parochial schools begin their Thanksgiving holiday today but the closing time for classes varies between noon and 3 p. m.

First to close for the long weekend will be SS. Peter and Paul's School and Ursuline Academy, which finish at noon. All of the public schools in Allegany County will begin their vacation weekend at 1 p. m.

The other parochial schools, St. Mary's, St. Patrick's, Catholic Girls Central High School and La-Salle High School are scheduled for a full day of classes today.

Some of the public school cafeterias will be open today but not all of them. In general the smaller schools and those on the elementary level will serve lunches today.

Knights Plan Dance, Party

Cumberland Council 586, Knights of Columbus, will hold its annual Thanksgiving dance at the local home this evening beginning at 10 o'clock.

Music will be by "Buck" Trimble's orchestra. The committee in charge of arrangements includes Lawrence E. Geiger, John F. Vocke, Joseph A. Soethe, Thomas E. Simon, Joseph T. Sirna, and Leo T. Powers.

Admission is open to members and friends. Dress for the dance will be casual sportswear.

On Friday evening the local council will hold a calico party in the cocktail lounge with dress being optional.

Music will be furnished by Mrs. Clara Fisher. The committee in charge of arrangements is headed by Sidney H. Storer Jr., assisted by Thomas E. Carney, Thomas J. Dunn, James E. Coyle and John W. Stotler.

A. F. White To Head Railroad Trainmen

Adair F. White, 901 Michigan Avenue, was elected president of Mountain Division 267, Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, at a meeting at Chapel Hill Hose House Monday night.

Other officers, elected with White, are Howard C. Beckman, 403 Arch Street, vice president; Darwin G. Blizzard, 420 Walnut Street, secretary, and Harold K. Ritter, 521 Williams Street, treasurer and legislative representative. White was named alternate legislative representative.

About 44 members attended the meeting, and a stag night party was held.

The next meeting will be held December 5, and the new officers will begin their two-year terms at a meeting January 1.

Clothes For Needy Drive Under Way At SS Peter, Paul's

The annual Thanksgiving Day clothing drive for the needy in other lands is now under way at SS. Peter and Paul Catholic parish.

Similar drives are being conducted throughout the United States. Those who plan to donate clothes are asked to bring their bundles including shoes, blankets and other items to the parish hall this week.

Those unable to bring the clothes are asked to call the parish officials and they will be picked up. Next week the clothes will be packed and shipped to a central point for shipment overseas.

Three Are Injured In Two-Car Crash

Three persons were admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital early yesterday afternoon for treatment of injuries suffered in a headon collision on Route 220 between Pinto and Cresaptown.

Listed in "fair" condition last night were Donald Johnson and his wife, Mrs. Maude Johnson, 122 Maple Terrace, Charleroi, Pa.

Johnson suffered a hip injury and Mrs. Johnson an ankle injury and cuts about the face and body.

Vance Bensenhaver, 48, Moorefield, W. Va., driver of the other car, was admitted to the same hospital for X-rays and treatment of possible injuries to both knees, and of scratches on the face.

Celanese Declares New Dividends

Directors of Celanese Corporation of America yesterday declared a dividend of 12½ cents a share on the common stock, payable December 22, 1955, to holders of record December 2, 1955.

The board also voted quarterly dividends of $1.12½ on the preferred stock, Series A, and $1.75 on the 7 per cent second preferred stock. Both preferred stock dividends are payable January 1, 1956, to holders of record December 2, 1955.

Fort Hill Players Revive Popular Theatrical Comedy

Fort Hill Players are rehearsing a straight play version of one of the most popular musical comedies, "Girl Crazy," which they will present in the school auditorium Friday, December 9, at 8:15 p.m.

Miss Helen Smith is directing the revived production with a cast of some of the best amateur performers seen at Fort Hill in several years.

The story tells of a New York playboy who inherits a ranch in Arizona. In order to claim his inheritance he must live there for a year. The complications that result when he attempts to turn the old Buzzard Ranch into one for dudes furnishes the background for the many hilarious situations that are found in the play.

The original musical comedy, "Girl Crazy," boasted such hit tunes as "Embraceable You," "I've Got Rhythm," "Bidin' My Time," and "But Not For Me." These were done by George and Ira Gershwin. They will be played before curtain time.

The book was written by Guy Bolton and John McGowan. The script of the acting version remains very much as in the original hit show, Miss Smith noted.

Rec Department Issues New List Of Baby Sitters

Latest Revision Includes 51 Names

The Recreation Department has completed its annual revision of its Baby Sitter's lists.

Each person applying to the Recreation Department to have her name added to the list as a baby sitter is checked through the Police Department, the Juvenile Court, and if still attending school, the Board of Education and each school, and if any of these authorities or organizations consider the person to be in any way unfitted for baby sitting, her name is not added to the list.

This year there are 51 baby sitters listed, about 10 per cent of these adult women, according to Robert E. Pence, recreation director.

On the list, the "sitters" are divided according to the section in which they live, and their name, address, telephone number, and times they are available are listed.

Lists can be obtained at the Recreation Department office.

Each person personally contacts the desired sitter, and all arrangements are made between the parent and the sitter.

As the baby sitter's organization is not formally organized in Cumberland, there are no set rules, but on the list the Recreation Department has included several "Suggested Baby Sitter's Regulations For The Parents," based on rules and regulations of baby sitting groups in other cities.

Christmas Seal Returns Are At $3,181 Mark

26,558 Letters Sent To Residents Of Area

Returns on the 1955 Christmas Seal sale of the Allegany-Garrett Tuberculosis Association reached the $3,181.95 mark on Monday, according to Glenn K. Davis, Seal chairman.

Davis said the association feels the response to date has been good, since the Seal letters were mailed only a week before.

The returns were the first reported from the 38,941 Christmas Seal letters sent to residents of Allegany and Garrett Counties.

Included among the early returns was $2,283.70 from Cumberland and the county, $336.50 from Frostburg, $186.50 from Westernport and $375.25 from Garrett County.

Mail 26,558 Letters

For its 1955 Seal sale, which finances the work of the association in Western Maryland, the association mailed 26,558 letters to Cumberland and Allegany County exclusive of Frostburg and Westernport, 2,235 to residents of Westernport, 4,611 to Frostburg citizens and 5,307 to residents of Garrett County.

Davis said the association this year sent about 1,200 fewer letters than were mailed last year, as a result of a major effort to avoid duplication of names.

He warned, however, there may still be some duplications, in spite of the careful cross checking made during the summer.

Those who received more than one Seal letter, he said, will do the association a big favor if they will cut off the labels from duplicate letters and enclose them with their returns.

Council Aids Drive

He said the association does not expect anyone to pay for additional seals sent by mistake.

Cooperation in helping to eliminate such duplications, he added, will save money and make each Seal dollar buy more health for Allegany and Garrett counties.

Members of the Allegany County Lay Health Council, who helped prepare the Seal Sale envelopes, are also helping to count the returns from the campaign, according to Mrs. Stanley Buckley, LaVale, president of the association.

She estimated the cooperation of the Lay Health workers saves the association at least $500 a year.

Traffic Signals For New Bridge Are Going Up

Maryland Approach Lane To Be Marked

The traffic signal system for the new Cumberland-Ridgeley Bridge is being installed, Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan announced yesterday.

The Potomac Edison Company, he said, yesterday began installing the cable and the three traffic lights for the busy intersection.

The traffic control plan will be in operation this week, weather permitting, he said.

Work on the traffic signals was delayed when cable which will serve the lights failed to arrive on time, and a few more days of delay was added by the recent snow.

Commissioner Keegan said the work will not take long, since conduits through which the cables will be strung were provided when the approach was built.

Also placed during the construction was the tripping mechanism which will control traffic for vehicles leaving the interstate span at Riverside Park.

Keegan said the Police Department's Traffic Bureau will make a close study of the operation of the traffic control system, and keep making adjustments until the right cycle is found.

A great deal of study has gone into the system, he said, in order to expedite the movement of the heavy traffic.

Keegan said the department will paint the center lane of the approach from the Baltimore Street Bridge with "Bridge" and "Route 28" to help strangers keep in the proper lane for entering the bridge.

Confirmation of the appointments was received yesterday by Senator Charles M. See from Paul Burke, chairman of the Maryland Traffic Safety Commission.

The SRC has announced plans for a series of signs to be placed on Big Savage Mountain.

The committee feels the proposed are "desirable but totally inadequate" to meet the problem and will outline its plan for the consideration of the roads officials.

Details of the committee's program will later be explained to the Legislative Council group.

A committee spokesman said the "key to immediate action is the driver" and that current efforts must be directed toward him.

The story tells of a New York playboy who inherits a ranch in Arizona. In order to claim his inheritance he must live there for a year. The complications that result when he attempts to turn the old Buzzard Ranch into one for dudes furnishes the background for the many hilarious situations that are found in the play.

The original musical comedy, "Girl Crazy," boasted such hit tunes as "Embraceable You," "I've Got Rhythm," "Bidin' My Time," and "But Not For Me." These were done by George and Ira Gershwin. They will be played before curtain time.

The Recreation Department has completed its annual revision of its Baby Sitter's lists.

Each person applying to the Recreation Department to have her name added to the list as a baby sitter is checked through the Police Department, the Juvenile Court, and if still attending school, the Board of Education and each school, and if any of these authorities or organizations consider the person to be in any way unfitted for baby sitting, her name is not added to the list.

Christian missions today and tomorrow will be presented from the viewpoint of several foreign fields by representatives of the Oriental Missionary Society.

The missionary team has been invited to Cumberland by First Methodist Church, where special missionary services will be held from Thursday, December 1, through Sunday, December 4, according to Rev. Everett W. Culp, pastor.

Missionary outreach in Colombia, South America, will be presented by Miss Carol Harding, member of the Inter-American Missionary Society. She will reveal up-to-date facts on the religious and political situations in Colombia as they are related to Protestant missionary activity.

The challenge of today's global missionary opportunities will be clearly and forcefully presented to enlarge the vision of Christians in America of the world's great need of Christ. Services will begin at 7:30 p. m. daily and on Sunday at 10:45 a. m., 2:30 p. m. and 7:30 p. m. A missionary film in sound and color will be shown each night.

The Oriental Missionary Society opened work in Japan in 1901 and now functions in nine countries of the Orient, Europe and South America. It is an interdenominational faith society which specializes in direct evangelism, by training a foreign national ministry in its Bible seminaries and by placing a Gospel in every home through its Gospel Crusade. It has distributed over 25,000,000 Gospels. The society works cooperatively with many mission boards in the foreign field.

Christmas Seal Returns Are At $3,181 Mark

26,558 Letters Sent To Residents Of Area

Returns on the 1955 Christmas Seal sale of the Allegany-Garrett Tuberculosis Association reached the $3,181.95 mark on Monday, according to Glenn K. Davis, Seal chairman.

Davis said the association feels the response to date has been good, since the Seal letters were mailed only a week before.

The returns were the first reported from the 38,941 Christmas Seal letters sent to residents of Allegany and Garrett Counties.

Included among the early returns was $2,283.70 from Cumberland and the county, $336.50 from Frostburg, $186.50 from Westernport and $375.25 from Garrett County.

Mail 26,558 Letters

For its 1955 Seal sale, which finances the work of the association in Western Maryland, the association mailed 26,558 letters to Cumberland and Allegany County exclusive of Frostburg and Westernport, 2,235 to residents of Westernport, 4,611 to Frostburg citizens and 5,307 to residents of Garrett County.

Davis said the association this year sent about 1,200 fewer letters than were mailed last year, as a result of a major effort to avoid duplication of names.

He warned, however, there may still be some duplications, in spite of the careful cross checking made during the summer.

Those who received more than one Seal letter, he said, will do the association a big favor if they will cut off the labels from duplicate letters and enclose them with their returns.

Council Aids Drive

He said the association does not expect anyone to pay for additional seals sent by mistake.

Cooperation in helping to eliminate such duplications, he added, will save money and make each Seal dollar buy more health for Allegany and Garrett counties.

Members of the Allegany County Lay Health Council, who helped prepare the Seal Sale envelopes, are also helping to count the returns from the campaign, according to Mrs. Stanley Buckley, LaVale, president of the association.

She estimated the cooperation of the Lay Health workers saves the association at least $500 a year.
